ALGIERS, Jan. 29.—Allied invasion forces, aided by the big guns of British warships, captured a bridge 12 miles up the main road from Anzio and advanced against growing enemy resistance within 20 miles of Rome today.

The bridge fell to a strongly-reinforced British column which only 24 hours earlier beat off a German counter-attack at Carocetto, three miles to the south. Though British troops were well beyond Carocetto, possession of the town itself was not indicated.

At the same time, American troops on the right of the British advanced to within light artillery range of Cisternia, German strongpoint on the Appian Way, 25 miles southeast of Rome.

Official reports thus for the first time disclosed the relative positions of the British and American forces, showing the British on the northern wing and closer to the Italian capital.

It was also indicated that Allied advances had made the Appian Way impracticable as a means of enemy communication between the beachhead front and the Nazi Gustav line facing the Fifth Army to the south.

(Reynolds Packard, British United Press war correspondent, said advances Friday enlarged

Seek Extradition

Arrest City Man on Charge Of Breaking Jail in U.S.

The grim fingers of the law reached out of the past Friday to shatter the happy Edmonton home of John Hipfner and bring tragedy to his young wife and two daughters, aged six and three years, when R.C.M.P. officers, armed with an extradition warrant, arrested him on a charge of breaking out of a convict prison in the United States nearly 12 years ago.

Hipfner, who was employed by the Coast Construction Co., as foreman of the gravel crusher gangs, appeared in supreme court Friday afternoon before Mr. Justice C. C. McLaurin and was allowed his freedom on posting $1,000 bail in two sureties, pending the hearing of the extradition plea.

Gerald O'Connor, K.C., special counsel appointed by the State of Wisconsin, did not oppose the bail application made on behalf of Hipfner by Hugh Calais Macdonald, K.C. Hearing of the extradition plea is set for Tuesday, Feb. 8. The adjournment to this date was asked by Mr. Macdonald to enable him to make representations to Ottawa and Washington seeking a pardon for his client.

FINGERPRINTS CHECKED

Hipfner came into the clutches of the law when fingerprints and photographs taken on his being employed by the Coast Construction Co, were forwarded by the United States Army Engineers,

Court Upholds Death Penalty Given Indian

Sam Baptiste Desjarlais, Conklin district Cree Indian, will go to the gallows at Fort Saskatchewan jail on March 17 to pay the death penalty for the murder of Karl N. Hemmingsen, nday River trapper, whose bullet-riddled body was found by R.C.M.P. officers in the Monday River in November, 1942.

Frday afternoon, in a unanimous verdict, the Alberta Court of Appeal dismissed the appeal brought by Desjarlais against jury conviction and death sentence imposed on him by Mr. Justice C. C. McLaurin.

Earlier in the week George Desjarlais, a cousin of the condemned man, was granted a new trial by the Court of Appeal, the jury conviction and death sentence imposed by Mr. Justice T. M. Tweedie being quashed on the ground that his defence was not adequately placed before the jury. Date of the re-trial has not been set.

SUPPORTED NEW TRIAL

Hon. Lucien Maynard, K.C., attorney-general for the province, personally appearing in this appeal, told the court that after consultation with officers of the crown he would not oppose the quashing of the conviction and the ordering of a new trial. He informed the court that "the best interests of justice would be served by a new trial."

Sam Desjarlais was charged also with the murder of Nick Pappas.

Ottawa Aids Plan Of Apprenticeship

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—(CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell announced today a plan to provide financial assistance to the provinces to promote extension of apprenticeship training for ex-members of the armed forces and other civilians.

By order-in-council, $250,000 has been made available for distribution to the provinces in the present fiscal year, with the amount to be increased to $1,000,000 for later fiscal years.

The measure, the first dominion assistance toward development of formal trade apprenticeship, states that while government assistance is being provided, apprenticeship is still the primary responsibility of industry.

Authority is given the Labor Minister to enter into agreements with the provinces for terms not exceeding 10 years. In cases where the provinces has not an apprenticeship act or its equivalent, it will be required to introduce such legislation. The provinces will administer the program and will appoint an apprenticeship committee composed of equal representation of workers and employers with representatives of the provincial education and labor departments.

MOSCOW, Jan. 29.—Red armies, closing a trap on upwards of 250,000 Germans, tore huge new chunks out of the disintegrating enemy bulge below Leningrad and surged toward the last escape railroad today.

The Russians appeared closer to the encirclement of a huge German army than at any time since Stalingrad.

Slashing into the southern flank of the Nazi salient, Gen. Kyril A. Meretskov's vanguards west of Novgorod swept across the Leningrad-Vitebsk railway next to the last escape route out of the bulge, and pressed on towards the main Leningrad-Pskov line, 23 miles to the east.

THOUSANDS KILLED

The Germans were reported reeling back in disorder under the Soviet hammer blows. Thousands were cut off by the speed of the Russian advance and annihilated. Others surrendered.

Legislation Now Planned Termed Epoch-Making

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—(CP)—Dominion government legislation as outlined in the Speech from the Throne is "epoch-making" and the proposed program of social security will carry into effect the dreams of reformers, Capt. Walter Tucker (L.—Rosthern) said yesterday in the House of Commons.

He seconded the motion for an address in reply to the Throne Speech moved earlier by Lieut. L. D. Tremblay (L.—Dorechester).

Capt. Tucker said the guarantee of minimum prices for staple farm products means that poverty in rural districts because of low prices should never recur.

Coal Restrictions Removed in West

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—(CP)—Munitions Minister Howe announced late yesterday that temporary restrictions placed last November on the delivery of coal have been suspended in the four western provinces because mild weather has "greatly reduced" the demand for coal for household use.

He added that additional production from new government-sponsored strip mine operations has helped to increase the supply of sub-bituminous and lignite coals mined in Western Canada for household use.

"Because of these circumstances," Mr. Howe said, "it has also been possible to ship greater quantities of this western domestic coal to shortage areas in the nearby western states in an endeavor to give relief to the pressure on American mines and to alleviate the scarcity existing in that area.

Post-War Trade With Orient Key to Prosperity in West Declares G. G. McGeer, K.C.

The governments of British Columbia and Alberta, boards of trade and chambers of commerce, and every organization in the two provinces should now be working in co-operation to vividly impress on the Dominion government their determinaton that the port of Vancouver must be developed as the Canadian trade outlet to the Orient in the post-war period, G. G. McGeer, K.C., M.P. for Vancouver-Burrard, stated on his arrival in Edmonton Friday evening.

Mr. McGeer, who is one of Canada's leading authorities on monetary reform, will address a public meeting, sponsored by the Edmonton Liberal Association in the I.O.O.F. hall, 103 street, Saturday evening, commencing at 8.15 o'clock.

His crusade for monetary reform and public ownership of the Bank of Canada in the early 1930's resulted in the nationalization of the bank in 1938. He is still the staunchest exponent of monetary reform in Western Canada, and will take an active part in the debates in the House of Commons during the revision of he Bank Act, scheduled for the present session.

EN ROUTE TO OTTAWA

Mr. McGeer will stop over in Edmonton until Sunday evening, when he will proceed to Ottawa to attend the sittings of the House of Commons.

Committees should be established throughout British Columbia and Alberta at once, Mr. McGeer stated, to organize a united front for the drive on Ottawa to insist on the development of Vancouver as Canada's port for trade with the Orient.

He said that this trade, in the post-war period, will be tremendous, and if western Canadians do not bestir themselves they may find that they have been hamstrung by eastern interests, and that the natural flow of commerce through the port of Vancouver has been diverted to other channels.

There may be some conflict of interests between Alberta and British Columbia, Mr. McGeer said, but added that the great benefits to be derived by both provinces through their development in the post-war period to meet the terrific demands for reconstruction in the Orient will more than overshadow these minor conflicts.

MUST FIGHT FOR SHARE

"If we in the west fight for proper participation in the reconstruction of the Orient, Vancouver will become Canada's greatest port, and the west the most progressive and prosperous of the provinces of Canada.

The people of Alberta and British Columbia are the richest people in the world. No similar population has at its disposal the vast resources that these provinces contain, Mr. McGeer stated.

The combined resources of Sweden, Norway, Finland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania and the Russia area from the Baltic to the White Sea are but a part of what we have in British Columbia, Alberta, the Yukon and Alaska, he asserted.

"More than 30,000,000 people are contained in these areas in Europe, and we in these great undeveloped areas of the west, were we not hobbled and fettered by the powers of the east, could soon have a population larger than that of the whole Dominion," Mr. McGeer stated.

PROSPECTS UNLIMITED

"We in this section of the Dominion of Canada can look forward to a future of unlimited development. The reconstruction of the Orient will offer us infinitely more possibilities than will the reconstruction of Europe," he added.

The Pacific ocean sphere is the world's greatest area of trade and human activities, and we must prepare ourselves to participate in that trade and in those activities if we are to reap the benefits which our geographical position entitles us to, he said.

Alaska is not only the Gibraltar of the skies, but should be now recognized as the frontier of the North American continent, and the citadel of future air traffic to the Orient and also the centre of the world's great sky lanes.

Edmonton's place has been established already on these great air routes. The city is now one of the great air centres of the world and is at last coming into its own as the gateway to the last of the great undeveloped open spaces, Mr. McGeer declared.

For Next Year

Canada's War Bill Cut $240,000,000

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—(CP)—The government's War Appropriation Bill for the next fiscal year will provide for a total of $3,650,000,000, a reduction of $240,000,000 from the present year, it was disclosed today in a motion placed on the House of Commons order paper by Finance Minister Ilsley.

The resolution provides for sums not exceeding $3,650,000,000 to be made available in the fiscal year April 1, 1944, to March 31, 1945, for all war purposes. The war appropriation for the present fiscal year was $3,890,000,000.

The war appropriation does not include mutual aid which is provided under a separate bill and which last year made $1,000,000,000 available for aid to the United Nations.

DUE TO WAR TREND

Reduction in the war appropriation for the next fiscal year has been anticipated due to the trend of the war. Much of the reduction is expected to be in the appropriation to the munitions department. Capital expenditures on plant and equipment are well past their peak and there have been some reductions in actual production, particularly in munitions and ships.

It also is expected that requirements of the army probably will be reduced because a large part of the necessary equipment already has been purchased and is available.

At the last session of parliament debate on the War Appropriation Bill was the longest of the session with the government's entire war program coming under review.

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—(CP)—State Secretary McLarty today placed on the House of Commons order paper a motion providing for a special committee to consider the Election Act and existing regulations providing for voting among members of the armed forces.

Demand Revenge For Atrocities

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Vows of vengeance and demands for retribution swept the war-conscious United States Pacific coast today as the reaction of horror to the stories of Japanese atrocities mounted to new heights.

So acute was the feeling in many localities on the west coast, that Lt.-Gen. Delos C. Emmons, commanding general of the western defence command, cautioned against individual retaliation in this country.

Angry citizens gathered on street corners at Tulelake, Calif., six miles from the segregation centre housing 15,000 proved potential or suspected disloyalists, and muttered renewed demands that the military again resume control over the centre. The war department recently relinquished control to the war relocation authority.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—More than 800 American heavy bombers smashed today at Frankfurt, rail and industrial hub of southwest Germany, a few hours after big R.A.F. and Canadian fleets razed another section of Berlin with 1,500 to 2,000 tons of bombs.

(Swedish reports said the complete evacuation of burning Berlin was contemplated, and the Nazis clamped a tight censorship on details of the second successive devastating R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. blow to mop up the rubble-strewn capital.

("We have gone through one of the most horrible nights since the English raids of annihilation began against Berlin," said the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet's Berlin correspondent.

"DISASTROUS" FIRES

("Disastrous fires" are blazing in the shattered city, he wrote, adding that the Nazi censorship prohibited him from giving a detailed picture of the damage and the number of victims.

(All Swedish correspondents made it clear the attack was one of the severest yet directed against Berlin.)

The one-two punch at Germany by night and by day put the pre-invasion offensive back on the basis of a full partnership Allied campaign, the United States Air Force striking at a vital Nazi target while the British Bomber Command pressed its knockout drive against Berlin.

British, Canadian and Australian bombers pounding the German capital for the second straight night re-stoked still smouldering fires and were reported from Stockholm to have hit government buildings in the heart of the city.

47 BOMBERS LOST

Forty-seven bombers, including 10 Canadian, did not return from the Berlin and other night blows—the heaviest total loss in the 73-night battle to erase Berlin but less than the losses of some of the earlier attacks on the capital.

An R.C.A.F. communique announced that "many" bombers of the Canadian bomber group took part in the Berlin attack, while R.C.A.F. Mosquitoes were in the intruder force which operated over enemy bases. One R.C.A.F. fighter was lost.

(An indication that the Allies were succeeding was seen in a Tokyo radio broadcast which admitted the situation at Rabaul was "becoming grave" and added "we are worried about our inferiority in numerical strength." The broadcast said that 430 Allied planes attacked Rabaul on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday and that 125 of them were shot down but admitted that the Japanese suffered "precious losses.")

Lac La Biche trapper, but was acquitted on this charge. Pappas' body was discovered in the woods near Conklin, and subsequent to the murder the accused was found to be in possession of considerable amounts of money, including $100 bills.

R.C.M.P. balistics experts testified at the Hemmingsen trial that 30-30 calibre bullets found near the place where the murdered man's body was discovered, were fired from a rifle owned by the accused. Eleven bullet wounds were found in the body, they testified, and in addition the murdered man had been clubbed over the head.

One witness at the trial testified that Sam had confessed to slaying two men, one of whom had "died easy, the other had to be shot several times and had to be hit over the head to kill him."

Robbery was given as the motive for the murder. A witness told the court during the trial that Sam had stated that "we got a lot of money from one, but only four dollars and a watch from the other."

Police proved that the murderer received only $4 from Hemmingsen's pockets, and his watch. This watch was destroyed at the Desjarlais home shortly after the murder was committed, other witnesses testified.

supervisors of this work, to the authorities at Washington. There a check revealed that Hipfner's prints were those of a man, who had broken from Oregon State prison camp on June 19, 1932.

The extradition papers, certified to by L. F. Murphy, warden of the Wisconsin state prison, Waupun; Walter S. Goodland, governor of Wisconsin; Cordell Hull, secretary of state for the United States, and the United States Embassy at Ottawa, were presented to the court by Mr. O'Connor.

The warrant for Hipfner's arrest was issued Thursday afternoon by Mr. Justice McLaurin, and was executed by Const. A. L. Richardson on Friday afternoon. Robert English, American consul at Edmonton, attended the court proceedings on Friday afternoon.

These papers allege that Hipfner, on October 24, 1931, in the village of Menomonee Falls, Wis., broke and entered a store. They state he pleaded guilty to the charge on November 13, 1931 and was sentenced to a general or undetermined term of not less than three, or more than five years.

TRANSFERRED TO CAMP

After being sentenced he was taken to Waupun penitentiary, and on June 11, 1932, was transferred to the Oregon State Prison Camp, Dame county, Wis., and eight days later, on June 19, 1932, he succeeded in escaping and evaded capture until his arrest here on Friday, the extradition charge states.

Hipfner was born at Montmartre, Sask., on December 12, 1907, and was only 23 when he allegedly committed what appears to be his only offense against society.

Applying for bail for his client, Mr. Macdonald said he was not admitting or denying that his client was the man wanted in Wisconsin for breaking from jail. He intimated that the extradition would be opposed. He told the court also that he would like an adjournment to make representations to Ottawa and Washington in connection with the case.

Police officials stated Friday that Hipfner, since coming to Canada, appeared to have led an exemplary life. He arrived in Calgary shortly after leaving Wisconsin, and came to Edmonton in 1933.

MARRIED CITY GIRL

He supported himself through the depression years doing carpentry and other work, and in 1935 married an Edmonton girl.

Mr. Macdonald said that since Hipfner came to Edmonton he has not even been a "jaywalker" offender against the law

WORLD ORGANIZATION

There must be some form of world organization which had not only the will but the power to maintain world peace and prevent aggression.

Canada's place in the new international set-up should be as a member of some league of free nations and as an absolutely autonomous nation within the British commonwealth of nations.

"I heard Lord Halifax's (Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States) speech on Monday night (before the Toronto board of trade) and was not sure as to what he was urging," Capt. Tucker said.

"If he was arguing for the greatest possible consultation between free and equal nations within the British commonwealth to find ways and means of giving one another assistance in peace and war, I am sure there will be general agreement with him in Canada.

"OPINION" OF SOME

"But his speech has been construed by some as an argument that we should start retracing the steps which we have taken steadily for 75 years now towards complete nationhood under the leadership of every outstanding Canadian leader.

"I for one do not think it either feasible or wise to attempt now to turn back the clock—nor in the best interests either of Canada or the British commonwealth."

Berlin Raided, U.S. Bombers Hit Frankfurt

four-motored bombers supported by fighters attacked industrial installations in Frankfurt indicated that the raid might be one of the heaviest United States blows at Germany so far.

Frankfurt is the site of war plants producing explosives, poison gas, acids and dye stuffs, metal alloys, aircraft parts and machine tools, as well as a focal point of railroads radiating throughout Germany and westward through occupied territory.

The fleet of Fortress and Liberators streamed out over the coast at dawn whil. British bombers still were returning from their secon' straight night of bombing Berlin.

The fighter-escorted American bombers probably dumped more than 2,000 tons of bombs on Frankfurt, city of 550,000.

While the bombers were over Europe, Allied fighters shuttled back and forth over the coast, and simultaneously R.A.F. Typhoon fighter-bombers sped out toward France to hit the invasion coast.

HEAVY BLOW AT BERLIN

Smashing at Germany's dying capital for the second time in a little more than 24 hours, hundreds of the Bomber Command's four-engined heavyweights sent demolition bombs ranging up to four-ton super blockbusters and thousands of incendiaries crashing down on the nerve centre of the Axis war effort.

"The bombing was well concentrated and large areas of fire were observed," the air ministry announced in a communique.

Forty-seven bombers were lost in the Berlin assault and in subsidiary raids on unspecified objectives in northwest Germany.

An extensive mine-laying operation also was completed during the night, the ministry said without elaboration, and Allied intruder aircraft shot down two planes over enemy bases with a loss of three of their own.

DAMAGE IS GREAT

The Nazi-controlled Scandinavian Telegraph Bureau reported from Berlin that damage in last night's attack probably exceeded that of the previous night and acknowledged that certain "central sections" had been hit.

Reliable private information reaching the British United Press bureau in Stockholm indicated that government quarters and the surrounding area in the centre of Berlin, including the Potsdamer Platz and Goeringstrasse, suffered heavy new damage.

Fires still were burning from Thursday night's raid.

the Allied beachhead below Rome to 85 square miles.)

The advance puts the British about where the Anzio road joins the ancient Appian Way, and approximately 19 air miles south and slightly east of Rome.

THUNDEROUS BARRAGE

British warships laid down a thundering barrage just beyond the perimeter of the steadily-growing beachhead and silenced German batteries, broke up troop movements and inflicted damage and casualties on their transport. A train moving up supplies was cut in two by a direct hit. In addition, the town of Formia was bombarded.

Heavy rains and strong winds hampered unloading operations at Anzio and Nettuno, but official reports said the disembarkment of troops and heavy equipment for the battle of Rome was continuing ceaselessly.

Both British and American troops were reported encountering enemy tanks, shelling and considerable small arms fire all around the beachhead area.

BOMBARD FORMIA

British warships also bombarded Formia and harassed traffic on the coast road at the Tyrrhenian Sea end of the main Fifth Army front.

American tanks and infantry north of Cassino, main bastion of the Gustav line, hammered out limited advances despite "very stiff opposition and repeated enemy counter-attacks," the communique said.

At the same time, French forces broke up German preparations for a counter-attack at Terrelle, five miles northwest of Cassino, and recaptured two hills north of Mt. Belvedere after beating off two enemy attacks.

Along the lower Garigliano, British troops thrust forward for short gains northeast of the village of Suio, which lies two miles east of Caselforte.

Patrol activity on both sides continued on the Eighth Army front and the Germans were reported to be building new defences northeast of Orsogna to protect the Pescara line which offers the shortest route across the waist of Italy to Rome.

The movement of Canadian and other Eighth Army troops were hampered by snowdrifts, but along the Fifth Army line inland from the Tyrrhenian Sea the weather was described as cold and clear.

than 50 towns and villages south and southwest of the former capital, pushing to within 34 miles of the Estonian border and narrowing the escape corridor to 65 miles.

Frontal attacks on the bulge cleared the Germans from all but an 11-mile stretch of the main Moscow-Leningrad railway and trapped thousands of Germans defending the remaining segement around Chudovo, nearly 70 miles southeast of Leningrad.

The Soviet high command announced that a battle of annihilation was being waged against the trapped forces at Chudovo, southeastern anchor of the German salient, and its fall was expected soon.

The capture of the German fortress town of Lyuban, 50 miles southeast of Leningrad, paved the way for the successful clearing of the Moscow-Leningrad railroad to within five miles northwest of Chudovo. The greater part of the garrison of Lyuban was slain. Other Soviet troops penetrated the eastern suburbs of Chudovo.

Food Distribution Address Is Given

A talk on proper food distribution entitled "Common Ground" was given by Dr. George Hunter, head of the department of biochemistry, University of Alberta, at the January meeting of the Council for Canadian Unity held Wednesday night at the Bissell Institute.

Dr. Hunter pointed out that in pre-war years actual food destruction was carried out in many parts of the world while there existed in other regions a dire necessity for these same commodities, and that this criminal destruction of food was carried out in order to keep prices up and allow profits to be realized on resale of these commodities.

Dr. Hunter quoted Sir John Orr, advisor to the British Ministry of Foods, who stressed the necessity for enlightened leadership in the matter of equitable food distribution.

Upon questioning by police, the youth admitted taking the parcels, some of the contents of which he gave to a girl-friend, while some of it was at the home of his parents. He denied having sold any either in Edmonton or Vancouver. He was placed under arrest Friday, and is being held pending further investigations.

Allies' Reasons For Not Driving Inland Revealed

ALGIERS, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A military commentator at headquarters today explained some of the reasons why the Allies have not driven inland faster from their new beachhead in Italy.

"The original element of surprise enabled us to effect an almost unopposed landing," he said. "We have not pushed far enough forward to allow the landing of reinforcements and heavy equipment. This takes time as the harbor and beach facilities are restricted.

"Once the landing was made the element of surprise no longer existed and it became necessary to divert the attention of the enemy by other means such as attacking in strength on the 5th Army front and battering his communication lines from the air.

"It would be unwise to push too far inland before having the necessary weight to support the drive. Spectacular advances could have been made, but there would have been attending risks.

NOT HIT-RUN RAID

"This is not a hit-and-run raid but a full-scale operation. In fact, this is like winding a spring. The spring is being set to go off with full strength instead of going off half-cocked. The enemy is bound to resist with full strength and therefore we must have something with which to meet him."

Discussing the scanty information disclosed by Allied headquarters concerning the disposition of troops in the beachhead area, the commentator said, "One of the enemy's best means of obtaining information is by reconnaissance planes. We have such air superiority and we have been shooting his planes out of the sky to such an extent that it is doubtful he knows much.

"There is no point in handing him information on a platter. That's why we are so cagey."

C.C.F. Nominates Airman To Contest Jasper-Edson; Roper Tells of Activities

Pilot Officer Harry C. Irvine, now serving with the R.C.A.F. overseas, was chosen as the candidate of the C.C.F. in the Jasper-Edson Dominion constituency at a nomination convention held in the I.O.O.F. Hall, 103 street, Friday afternoon.

The candidate is a son of Wm. Irvine, former member of parliament for Wetaskiwin, and provincial secretary and organizer of the C.C.F. in Alberta. PO. Irvine has two brothers also serving in the R.C.A.F., FO. James Irvine, who joined the force three years before the war began, and who is an instructor overseas, and Sgt. Pilot Eric Irvine now at No. 2 Observer school in Edmonton.

There were 10 names entered for the nomination, Mrs. Nellie Peterson, Lac Ste. Anne; John La Brie, Roselea; Leslie Drayton, Highridge; T. Lovelock, Alcomdale; W. M. Washburn, Stony Plain; E. Lewis, Winterburn; T. J. Hardwick, Stony Plain; C. P. Fuhr, Stony Plain; and Hugh Critchlow, Duffield, who was the C.C.F. candidate in the riding in 1940. Mrs. Peterson and Messrs. Washburn, Lewis and Hardwick withdrew their names.

At the conclusion of the voting a motion to make the nomination unanimous was passed by a standing vote, moved by Mr. Critchlow and Mr. Lovelock.

There were 70 delegates in attendance from all parts of the constituency. The Jasper-Edson Dominion riding includes the provincial constituencies of Edson, Stony Plain, St. Albert, Lac St. Anne and Pembina.

Elmer E. Roper, M.L.A., provincial leader of the C.C.F. and Clifford E. Lee, provincial treasurer of the party, addressed the convention.

In his address, Mr. Roper said:

I was amused last week to read an editorial from a Montreal paper in which it was suggested that because we were calling attention to the attacks being made on the C.C.F. by the daily newspapers, and by Canadian big business and finance and their political servants, we were squealing about it—that we couldn't take it! Squealing about it?—Goodness gracious, no! We were boasting about it!

A people's political movement like the C.C.F. has two ways of knowing whether or not it is doing the job it was organized to do: one is to have evidence of support from the people, and the other to arouse the fear and antagonism of the enemies of the people. The C.C.F. has lots of both kinds of evidence.

In the less that a dozen years of its existence this people's movement has rallied to it the support of the Canadian people in a remarkable way. And in all the political history of Canada no other political party has brought down upon its head such unanimous and bitter enmity and opposition of all the predatory interests which thrive on the exploitation of the people.

LOVE IT

Can't take it?—why we love it! We count it a great achievement, a complete and perfect demonstration of the fact that here at last in Canada is a people's political movement which is storming the citadels of special privilege with success.

If we had not created any stir among those who control the economic life of this country for their own gain; if the C.C.F. could have been laughed off, or regarded as a flash-in-the-pan; if we had offered no threat to special privilege and given no cause for concern to those who own Canada and control the destinies of its people—then indeed we'd have had cause for regret. But as it is—well, we know beyond the shadow of a doubt that we are on the right track. We know it because the people are rallying to the banners of the C.C.F. and we know it because we have aroused the fear and hatred of the enemies of the people.

Now what has the C.C.F. done to obtain so great an expression of public approval and so striking a demonstration of disapproval from Canadian big business an' finance and their newspaper and political servants? We have just told the truth, that's all. The truth about the inefficiencies and injustices of an outworn and unfair economic system.

We have gone on the offensive against greed and exploitation and poverty and oppression. We have called attention to the way the system works. We have shown how by their ownership of the means by which the people of Canada live, a tiny fraction of the population of this great country manage to keep the great mass of the people in poverty and insecurity while they satiate themselves in wealth and luxury.

But most of all we have talked about the way in which the people of the nation may assume control over the economic life of Canada to use its resources and productive abilities to provide abundance and security for every Canadian family. And because the logic of the C.C.F. case is irrefutable, because the facts which we have brought to the attention of the Canadian people cannot be disputed, big business and finance have resorted to a campaign of abuse and misrepresentation unequalled in the history of Canadian politics.

There is a denizen of the seas called the cuttlefish which when it is pursued emits a black substance to confuse its enemy and cover its flight. And instead of trying to answer the unanswerable logic of the C.C.F. position, special privilege in Canada, through the columns of its newspaper organs and through the mouths of its political servants, is trying to confuse the Canadian people by a smokescreen of abuse of the C.C.F. It is employing every means at its disposal to scare the people as it scares them with "pink tooth brush" or "B.O." to sell its toothpaste or scented soap. And as the evidence piles up to prove that C.C.F. support is growing the attack against the C.C.F. becomes more intense. It will reach its peak, you may be sure, as the election campaigns approach.

GO ON WITH JOB

In the meantime we are going on with our job of reviewing the economic facts and of calling upon the people of Canada to build a great mass people's political movement through which they can assume control over the affairs of the nation, over their own affairs.

Some of the facts are not very pleasant. They have to do with that terrible period through which the people of this country struggled in the ten years before the war. But some other facts are encouraging. They hold out hope to the Canadian people and promise of a brighter, better day.

You remember, of course, that the press of Canada, and even some so-called economists, talked about "over-production" in the years before the war. We had poverty and unemployment and ruinous prices for farm products, they said, because there was over-production.

What nonsense! It was not over production but underproduction from which we were suffering. If we had divided evenly among all the Canadian people all we produced in 1932 we all would have been living in poverty. Production in 1932 amounted to less than three billion dollars. If evenly divided among all the families of Canada each one would have received less than $1,200. And the experts tell us that a Canadian family needs more than $1,500 to maintain an adequate minimum standard of living.

POVERTY STRICKEN

We were a poverty-stricken nation in 1932. We had the means by which we could have produced great wealth, but we weren't producing it. Our people were unemployed, our farm population was being kept in poverty. Our young people had no jobs and no hope. Why? Simply because dear old "free enterprise", which they want us to return to, was incapable by itself of carrying on an economic system which would give to the Canadian people the abundance which we could produce. It was a ghastly failure.

Now what happened when the war began? The nation took hold, that's all. The nation said what was to be produced and how much. And when private enterprise could not do the job the nation did it. Hundreds of millions of dollars were invested by the nation in new plant, most of it handed over to the private corporations, but a great deal of it put directly into new government-owned plants. At the end of 1942 we had 800 million dollars invested in government-owned war plants, shipyards, etc. And 80 per cent of all new production in Canada is turned out in plants financed or owned by the nation.

THINK OF THAT

Think of that and what it means. It means that so-called private enterprise, uncontrolled and undirected failed as miserably in war as it did in peace. The only way we could get the production we needed for war was to have the nation take control, to finance new plants and to say what was to be produced and how much.

And what was the result of the nation taking hold? The result was an immediate change in the whole economic situation. Idle people were put to work. New factories came into being almost overnight. The national income began to grow by leaps and bounds. From less than three billions in 1932 we jumped to nine billions in 1942. From a poverty average per family of less than twelve hundred dollars in 1932, we jumped to an average of $3,800 in 1942.

It was done by the nation taking hold. It was done by the nation ordering production, by the nation putting the people of the nation to work. Don't let's get away from that fact or we miss the whole lesson of the war economy. It is national spending which has brought us the comparative prosperity of the war period. And national spending is simply the nation ordering increased production and taking for the nation's use a large part of what is produced.

In 1932 the nation spent half a billion dollars. It couldn't find the money to put our unemployed to work or give the farming population a decent price for what it produced. In 1942 the nation spent five billion dollars more than it did in 1932. All of it is new production ordered by the nation. It is public enterprise.

That's what our war effort is—public enterprise. In the years of the depression the C.C.F. urged the government to launch out on a program of public enterprise, to put the unemployed to work at decent wages, to give our farmers a decent price for their products. They said it couldn't be done. We couldn't afford it. We of course pointed out that we could afford it, that we had the resources and the labor and the organizing ability to do it. We even said that if a war came we would do it. Well, the war came and we did do it.

QUESTION ARISES

And now the question arises, how about after the war? Are we going to maintain a high rate of production and distribute what we produce to the people of the nation, or are we going back to undirected free enterprise again and to the poverty which it brings?

The answer is with you, my friend. You'll be voting for one thing or the other when the elections come. You are supporting one thing or the other now. If you are doing nothing about it you are doing what the free enterprisers want. If you are trying to build the C.C.F. in your community you are doing your best to see that we don't go back to pre-war poverty.

For make no mistake about it, all the other political parties are committed to so-called free enterprise. They want us to put this nation and its affairs again into the uncontrolled hands of those who failed us so miserably before the war. The present government of Canada is all the time giving assurances to big business that controls will be thrown off as quickly as possible, that taxation on big business will be lowered, that interference with private enterprise will cease, and the Conservatives are repeating the same thing. And no greater champion of free enterprise or more violent opponent of the C.C.F. is to be found anywhere than the spokesmen of Social Credit.

Only the C.C.F. in Canada pledges to the people a program of national control over the economic life of the country to maintain production at its present level and to distribute to the people of the nation a volume of goods equivalent to that now being produced for war.

And because big business knows that such control will mean the end of its economic empire, of its control over the resources and lives of the Canadian people, it is fighting the C.C.F. It is spending millions of the profits it obtains from the labor of the people to fight the people's political movement.

For the first time in Canadian history the presidents or general managers of the chartered banks, for example, have used their shareholders annual meetings as a opportunity to attack the C.C.F."

We have never taken sides in politics before," they said, "but . . ." Well why in the world should they have taken sides before? They had both sides in their pockets!

Well, they're taking sides now. They are lining up gaainst the C.C.F. All the reactionary forces in the country are lining up against the C.C.F. You are lining up, too, my friend. You are on one side or the other. Which side are you on?

WORLD "PEACE CLUB" LATEST TOKYO PLAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A Tokyo propaganda broadcast, beamed to the United States at the same hour the Army-Navy report on atrocities against prisoners of war was released, called upon Americans to promote "A Peace for the World Club," U.S. government monitors said yesterday.

The Japanese commentator discussed the "lonely men out here in internment camps" and said prisoners of war were going to present the first act of John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men" as camp entertainment.

Then he said that since the United States is a nation of clubs, "why not promote a Peace for the World Club?"

Technicalities Rental Rules Cause Hardship

Charge that "absurd technicalities" in Dominion rental regulations defining "shared accommodation" is causing great hardship among servicemen and their their families in Edmonton, was made Saturday by Edmonton Canadian Legion officials.

Stating that the Legion branch has received a large number of letters from families of servicemen, claiming they have been given notice to vacate because they are said to be living under "shared accommodation" conditions, Secretary-Manager W. J. Williams said the matter will be brought to the attention of the membership here at the next monthly meeting.

Under the rental regulations, a family may occupy a suite of several rooms, but if the bath room is shared with other occupants of the dwelling, it is defined as "shared accommodation". If the same front entrance is used it is also considered shared accommodation. Persons renting shared accommodations are required to vacate on a month's notice.

CITES CASE

Mr. Williams cited one case where an airman and his family have occupied three rooms of a dwelling but share the bathroom with other tenants.

An appeal had been made to the rental board for a reduction of rent and a district court judge had granted the reduction sought. Then the landlord immediately gave the airman notice to vacate and has instituted eviction proceedings. The tenant is powerless to stop the eviction even though he has been utterly unable to find other accommodation, it was stated.

JUST HUMBUG

"We think this shared accommodation dodge is just a humbug in most cases that permits unscrupulous landlords to carry on a racket," Mr. Williams said.

The definition and covering regulation is particularly "absurd" where suites of three and more rooms are concerned. There may be justification in the case of single rooms which are rented by public-spirited families who are really trying to relieve the housing situation, he said.

Appeal Is Allowed In Perjury Case

Four Weasel Creek district farmers successfully appealed against conviction and two-year-less-one-day sentences imposed on them by Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor on a charge of conspiring to commit perjury. H. A. Mackie, K.C., was counsel for the appellants.

The successful appellants were Mike Babicz, Louis Polischuk, William Worwideka and Joseph Poloway. The charge against them arose out of evidence given during the hearing of a divorce action brought by Mr. Babicz against his wife, Caroline Babicz.

At the time of the divorce action Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing inntimated he was not satisfied with some of the evidence and suggested that an inquiry be made by R.C.M.P. officers. As a result of that inquiry the charge of conspiracy to commit perjury was laid against the four successful appellants.

Dear

The unusually fine weather we have been having seems destined to continue at least for a little while yet, as the weather forecast is for fair and milder weather. This has been a week of action here. The Alberta Farmers' Union has held a three-day convention, at which many important matters of interest to farmers and to soldiers were discussed. We have watched the war news with interest, and the progress and achievements of the boys in Italy has been a matter of pride and satisfaction. At Ottawa the parliamentary session has opened, and the legislative session will open here Feb. 10.

But here is news of the week in some detail.

January 24

While the department of education proposes to alter the length of summer holidays, it is not proposed to alter the present status of Easter holidays, according to Hon. Solon E. Low, minister of education. LAC. Simon Eden, 19-year-old son of Britain's foreign secretary, was interviewed at No. 2 A.O.S. He likes Canada, and impressed all who met him as being a "regular guy," getting along on his air force pay.

Whit Matthews with five successive wins, and Gerry Rice with four as against one loss, qualified in section "B," while Cliff Manahan's rink came through with five in a row in section "A" in the Northern Alberta British Consols playdowns for the Royal Curling Club. The posthumous award of the Order of the Purple Heart to the father of the late PO. Forbes Robertson, R.C.A.F., will be made in Saskatoon on Wednesday. PO. Robertson at the time he was cited for the award was a sergeant in the American bombardment squadron in the Middle East.

Another indication of Alberta's unusually mild winter is contained in motor license refund figures. License fees refunded showed a decrease of 50 per cent. over last year's figures.

January 25

If the Dominion of Canada is to maintain any degree of prosperity in the post-war world it must be founded in agriculture, James Jackson, president of the Alberta Farmers' Union, declared at the Farmers' Union convention now in session.

Lt. Robert W. Kullberg, 30-year-old U.S. Navy doctor whose wife lives here, was credited with saving a Marine fighter pilot's life recently when he dragged the man from a burning plane after a mid-air collision.

Twenty-five representatives from youth organizations voted at a meeting of the Alberta co-operating committee of the Canadian Youth Commission to call a conference of young people to acquaint them with the program and aims of the commission.

The city council has referred to the city commissioners for consideration and report a request from the Dominion Heating and Development Corporation, Toronto, for a franchise for the operation here of a central steam heating plant.

No Japs For Alberta

Coincidental with the statement of British Columbia's minister of public works that his province will never allow the Japanese to return comes news of the fiendish behavior of Japanese towards prisoners of war in the Pacific area.

Disclosure of these barbarities, tortures and murders was first made by army officers in Washington. It was later confirmed in the British House of Commons by a no less responsible person than Anthony Eden.

Mr. Eden told of the way the savage Japs inflict unspeakable outrages upon prisoners. He gave a long list of incredible inhumanities.

Those who oppose the entrance of Japanese into this province have been accused by so-called "humanitarians" of personal prejudice. But here is evidence, incontrovertible evidence, of an official and indisputable nature, of the kind of people these ruthless brown barbarians are.

British Columbia is speaking out boldly about the Japanese problem. British Columbia's experience has determined her citizens that the Japanese leeches shall not come back.

Only a similar determination on the part of public bodies in this province can save Alberta much distress and trouble.

The Sorrows of Joachim

Herr Von Ribbentrop is feeling very sorry because, as he puts it, "The Argentine Government is not master of its own decisions any longer." And about equally sorry, he pretends, because the United States is becoming so influential in that quarter that Britain may "lose her position in Argentina."

The sorrow of the Von is no doubt real, though he disguises the reasons for it. The fact is the Argentine Government sees that Hitler is "through", and that it is in the Allied countries Argentina will have to look for markets for its beef and wheat and coffee. So it has broken off relations with Berlin and Tokyo and is starting to round up the horde of Axis agents and propaganda-peddlers with which the country is infested.

That is why Ribbentrop is feeling sad, as he has a right to feel. The whole implication of the change of course at Buenos Aires is a conviction that the Axis is on the road to the scrap pile. That admission, on the part of a Government which Berlin counted as pro-Axis—is enough to give Joachim the blues.

Nothing Else Matters?

News that British Columbia has floated a bond issue at 2½ per cent interest strengthens the probability that the provincial debt of Alberta can be refunded at a rate in keeping with the present and prostive rental value of money. Similarly, the fact that Winnipeg has been able to market a bond issue at a cost of 2.87 per cent brightens the outlook that Edmonton's outstanding debt can be converted at a corresponding rate.

The contract rates on both Alberta bonds and Edmonton bonds are so far out of line with the interest now demanded for such loans that they are ridiculous as well as unjust. A point to be noted is that the cost of living is now above normal, which justifies the owner of capital in asking more rental for it than he would require if his living expense were less. As the cost of living settles back to normal, interest rates should and must move downward. Present interest rates are therefore higher, not lower, than are to be expected when the price structure is no longer boosted by scarcity of commodities.

That lenders are willing to finance British Columbia and Winnipeg at rates lower than three per cent leaves holders of outstanding bonds no moral warrant for refusing to refinance their Alberta and Edmonton holdings at parallel figures. If they continue to refuse to do this it can only be on the Shylock principle that the letter of the bond supercedes all other considerations.

Politics and the CBC

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is to be congratulated upon the decision to give Canada's opposition political leaders one half hour every month to address the people over the air. It is announced, also, that restrictions on party leaders' scripts will be relaxed.

If this decision reflects the attitude of the Dominion Government, as it doubtless does, it must be interpreted as a broad and liberal gesture.

Freedom of speech is inherent in democracy. And it is clear that freedom of speech can be attacked quite as much by limiting and cramping opportunity as by a direct prohibition on the free exchange of ideas. In short, to take away a man's or a party's machinery of self-expression is fully as undemocratic as to pass a law absolutely forbidding him to speak.

But limitations on free speech are sinister for other reasons than their undemocratic qualtiy. To divert political doctrines from their natural channel of expression is frequently to force them into unnatural channels of expression.

When the frank and honest and open propagation of political doctrine is suppressed, that doctrine inevitably finds its way into tortuous agencies of propaganda. And institutions are frequently corrupted by the introduction of secret propaganda simply because the normal channels of communication are closed to the idea behind that propaganda.

This gesture on the part of the CBC creates a healthier and more wholesome atmosphere in the entire field of political education.

Franco on the Carpet

Washington has banned the shipment of oil from the Caribbean area to Spain during the month of February—which means that no oil from any source will move to that country during the suspension period. Meanwhile a detailed examination is to be made of the assistance Franco has been giving to Germany. Upon the outcome of the inquiry, and Franco's readiness to change his ways, will depend whether the embargo is to be made permanent.

Allied patience with Franco's treacherous activities has apparently come to the breaking point, not before time that a show-down was called for. Cutting off the oil supply is only one of several ways in which sanctions can be employed to bring him to time. It is to be supposed others will also be brought into action if necessary. Since he is a slippery customer, something more than a promise will be needed to guarantee his future conduct. The stationing of Allied agents at all points on the border between Spain and France is the one sure way to stop Franco giving aid to his friend and patron, the Fuehrer.

Moscow says the time is not yet ripe for United States mediation in its territorial demands on Poland. That is quite different from rejecting the proffered aid in making an arrangement. It quite definitely implies that the offer will be acceptable if and when the Polish Government-in-exile is so reorganized as to satisfy Moscow that it is representative of Polish opinion and therefore competent to make a binding bargain.

Whether or not it convinces the Allies that it has always been above suspicion, the Argentine Government seems likely to convince Hitler and Tojo that it doesn't like the "deep-rooted espionage" system they have been operating there. Steamship sailings have been cancelled, communications with Berlin and Tokyo suspended, and the army of spies with their grips-full of stolen, bought or forged information are stranded within easy reach of the Argentine police.

Our Income Tax Penalizes Marriages and Families

Home Life Discouraged By Operations of Our Tax System

By HAROLD L. WEIR

One of the basic doctrines of democracy is the sanctity of the home.

It has been repeated, time and time again, that in a thoroughly civilized community the home is the unit of society and that when the home is attacked all civilization is weakened.

Harold L. Weir

Repetition of this fact has not forced us to accept it. On the contrary, it has been repeated so frequently because it is one of the deepest convictions we possess.

The home is the basis of culture, decency, order and progress. It is the unit of Christian life. In many respects it is the unit of individuality.

One would think, then, that the first business of government was to keep homes intact, to fight ruthlessly against any measure or influence that might disintegrate homes or hinder the establishment of new ones.

The production and protection of homes and families, one would think, should take precedence over every other economic or social consideration because homes are the ultimately fundamental asset of our civilization.

Does our government protect and preserve homes?

The tragic truth is that our government's prize invention, the federal income tax, not only fails to protect families and homes but actually penalizes the establishment of them. It actually pays a premium on bachelorhood.

Exemptions

The disparity existing between the tax burden borne by married men and single men is disgraceful in the light of the above thesis.

The marital exemption is $150. Exemptions for children and dependents are $108 for each dependent. The fact is that these exemptions and allowances are so absurdly low that they definitely discourage marriage and the production of children.

From a financial standpoint, the most favored state is the single state.

The next best thing is for a man and his wife to abstain from the rearing of a family and the founding of a home and both go to work.

The worst thing, as the income tax devisers have it, is to establish a home and have a family.

The home is translated into a millstone around a man's neck. Each child is an additional sinker. And, according to the creators of the income tax, the prime sucker in our social system is the poor lout who sets up a home and puts a family in it.

I said, I think, that this is disgraceful. It is more than disgraceful. It is anti-social. It is anti-Christian. It is uncivilized.

Figures

It has been alleged that figures do not lie. That may or may not be true. But it seems to be a certainty that in this mendacious world the mathematical formula carries most conviction in the realm of material things.

Admitting, then, that figures do not lie very much, here are the facts. Here is actually what happens to single men, married men with children and married men whose wives work.

|---|---|
| Single Man: | |
| Monthly salary $250; annual salary | $3,000.00 |
| Deduction monthly | 84.25 |
| Deduction annually | 1,011.00 |
| Balance for use of taxpayer | 1,989.00 |
| Married Man—Two Children: | |
| Income, $250 — annual income | $3,000.00 |
| Monthly deduction | 52.90 |
| Annual deduction | 634.80 |
| Balance available for taxpayer and family | 2,365.20 |
| Or approximately $600 per individual. | |
| Married Man with Wife Working: | |
| Male income | $2,000.00 |
| Female income | 1,000.00 |
| Total joint income | 3,000.00 |
| Deduction male, monthly | 34.10 |
| Female | 13.50 |
| Total annual deduction | 571.20 |
| Total available for taxpayer | 2,428.80 |
| Or, per individual | 1,214.00 |

The single man, on this basis, has $1,989 to spend on himself. The married man and his wife who works have $1,214 apiece. But each individual in a family consisting of a man, his wife and two children gets $600 each.

If that isn't a vicious slap at homes and families, what is?

War Expediencies

Now I realize that one must not examine too closely some of the financial expediencies and expedients of wartime. Things must be done in a time of crisis and emergency that no one would dream of doing on normal occasions.

But there is no rhyme nor reason to this disparity which amounts to rank discrimination.

It would cost the war budget not one cent to equalize the burden of married men and single men and to lift this intolerable incubus off the necks of homes and families.

Why does it exist?

There are only two possible, inescapable explanations.

One is that the framers of the income tax are too utterly stupid to see the inevitable effect of such a disparity.

The other is that they don't care. The reader can take his choice.

Editor, Bulletin: Dissatisfaction and criticism of "O Canada" persists.

In the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics the new national anthem is the result of a nation-wide competition.

Why not the same method for Canada?

Immortality

Editor, Bulletin: The apparent omnipotence of Dr. Clark, chemistry head of the University of British Columbia, to prove on a blackboard by complicated chemical formulae, the immortality of man, if accepted, certainly will knock into a cocked hat all past works of atheists. Surely a remarkable achievement if performed without hypnotics to his audience.

From Ceylon

Editor, Bulletin: A few days ago I received a complete copy of the 'Alaska Highway and Air Progress' second edition of The Edmonton Bulletin, dated July 3, 1943. By this time you will have almost forgotten this edition, but I feel that I would like to write and tell you that I have derived many hours of real enjoyment from this paper. During the two and a half years I've been overseas I have not seen a finer one.

I would like to offer my congratulations to The Bulletin and express my thanks for all the information it has made available to me.

J. E. SOPER,

Animosity

Editor, Bulletin: The Bible is indeed a wonderful Book, for the devil himself can use it to justify himself. The quotations given by Mr. MacArthur may justify his belief, but they are contrary to all Christian principles and must be rejected by all who believe in the teachings of Christ and that He did not die for us in vain. Otherwise the Japanese belief in Shintoism must also be considered as being right.

The animosity of people thousands of miles from any battlefront is really amazing. The men in the services are more generous towards the enemy. As an example, let me quote the prayer of an American pilot on the Italian battlefront on Thanksgiving Day just before he and his comrades sat down to dinner: "Dear God, we thank You for this food we are about to eat, for we know where there are thousands of men who cannot sit down to a meal like this today. Bless all our loved ones at home. Dear God, bless all the fighting men on all the fronts around the world—on both sides, because they are all fighting for what they believe is right. We ask these things in Christ's name." The above may be found in the Dec. 13 issue of Time Magazine.

I have three brothers in the armed services, and one brother-in-law has already been killed. My son still plays with toy soldiers. How about Mr. MacArthur?

FAIR MINDED.

Edmonton.

Support

Editor, Buletin: At the 35th annual meeting of the Edmonton Young Men's Christian Association held Tuesday evening, appreciation was tendered to those who have given so generously of their time, experience and services in assisting the carrying forward of the work of the Y.M.C.A. in our city during 1943.

Special recognition was given the services of your paper as follows:

"The press—The Edmonton Bulletin—which by its wholehearted support has kept the members and friends of the Y.M.C.A. as well as the community generally informed as to events and happenings of the association."

Kindly accept our sincere thanks for your splendid co-operation.

Indians

Editor, Bulletin: In a war every country produces, to its shame, a percentage of confused, distracted creatures whose sympathies are with the enemy. Possibly because they want to be on the safe side in case the enemy wins. So they make as much noise about it as they can.

Here in Canada we have a bunch of pro-Japanese Canadians who are forever chattering like monkeys about rights for the Japanese, rehabilitation for the same, and so on. They should know by this time that the Japanese are quite capable of looking after their own rights.

We would like to recommend them to divert their zeal to protecting the rights of the people whose countries they annexed, the Indians, who have been forced to live as a downtrodden conquered people in concentration camps without any rights at all.

We would suggest that they look at an Indian reserve with its leaky, tumbledown shacks, without water or light or any sanitation, and compare it with the neat bungalows that have been prepared for the Japanese in Canada, all furnished down to linoleum on the kitchen floors, with water and light laid on.

Let them remember, these pro-Jap Canadians, that we have educated Japanese children at our own expense for many years, in the same schools as our children. Whereas the Indians have had to take the scantiest, lowest-grade education provided in the inadequate number of schools maintained for them by the government. Except for a percentage of Indian children who are educated at the mission schools maintained by the various churches.

They will find that where the Japanese gets something like $45 a month relief allowance, the Indian gets only $4.88 (four dollars and eighty-eight cents) per month, paid in groceries, and this only when he is too ill or too old to work.

All in all, we think that the Japanese have had more than a square deal in Canada, and as their creed is Asia for the Asiatics, let them go to it as fast as they can. It is high time that all sincere Canadians should begin to talk of rights and rehabilitation for the Indians.

JUST CANADIAN.

Edmonton.

Extermination

Editor, Bulletin: Where are we going? Callousness and brutality seem to be the order of the day. We shall soon be matching those who are practising the horrible butcheries of Europe. We have lost, or nearly so, all of the finer qualities of Christianity, of love and kindness for our fellow creatures. In order to gratify our selfish lust for destruction, it has been left to a council of women to decree that the beautiful and harmless pigeon whose habitat is around the heart of the city, should be destroyed. When the bearers of our future race are possessed with such thoughts of destruction, is it any wonder that our children can be other than more callous and brutal to God's creatures? We have had wars on most all the other domestic animals until at the present time nothing seems safe from extermination.

I am aware there are a large number of bird lovers in Edmonton and I hope they will take up arms against this needless slaughter and bring home to the instigators of it, the sacredness of all life be it in what form it may.

ALBERT CARTWRIGHT.

16 Douglas Blk., Edmonton.

No Connection

Editor, Bulletin: Everyone is entitled to their opinions, but when "Wage Earner" makes several misstatements of fact, he should be corrected. In classifying Mr. Aberhart with Mr. Coldwell as Socialists he is inferring that Social Credit and Socialism are one and the same thing.

Nothing is farther from the truth, for Socialism maintains that the state, a man-made institution is superior to man, while Social Credit holds that institutions made by man are made for man and should serve him.

He is also under the impression that Aberhart could not stand criticism, and sought to muzzle the press when, in fact, the title of the legislation passed by the Alberta government was "Accurate News and Information Act, 1937," and described further: "To ensure that the press would give the public accurate accounts of government policies without restricting freedom of the press."

Does that sound like muzzling the press?

WAGE EARNER, TOO.

Edmonton.

Tool of Fascism

Editor, Bulletin: I for one was very disappointed upon reading the item in the Jan. 26 edition of The Bulletin. It was under the heading "Flag Saluting Regulation Stands, School Board Rules."

Many of us, who are strongly opposed to the regulation, felt that the strong recommendation made by the Consumers' League would have some effect on the board.

Mr. A. E. Ottewell seems to think the regulation should stand for two reasons. One, that to rescind the regulation would infringe on the welfare of the community and the other that the majority of the people are in favor of the regulation.

It seems to me that the welfare of the community is threatened by such rules. Force is a tool of fascism and what better way to ruin a nation than to prevent the young people from getting an education. A young person without an education is a potential criminal. Also the poorest nations (China, India) are the uneducated nations. Expulsion of a good student is the best way to ruin his life which is the life of a Canadian citizen.

Then, too, I doubt very much if it is the will of the majority of the people. Oh, yes, I believe in saluting the flag myself but I don't believe in forcing anyone to do so simply because I believe it should be done.

I suggest that Mr. Ottewell find out if it is the will of the majority by running in the next board election against a man who doesn't believe in the rule, and advertising the fact that he (Mr. Ottewell) stands for using such methods to force children to salute the flag rather than to teach them what the flag stands for. I wonder what one of my old school chums who was killed early in this war fighting for "freedom" would think of such methods.

I wonder too how many of our super-patriots have put their cars up for the duration to save gas for the armed forces and how many of them have given a pint of blood in the last three months?

House Ceiling Prices

Editor Bulletin: Why not a ceiling on houses? Recently your paper published a letter by a mother who made that suggestion. I endorse her recommendation heartily. Most other necessary or unnecessary property is subject to a price ceiling. Surely something so essential as a home should also be under the prices board.

A Free Nation?

Editor, Bulletin: If the C.C.F. does nothing else, at this time, than force the old-line political parties to declare themselves clearly and without equivocation on at least one fundamental post-war issue, it will have rendered invaluable service to the country.

I am tired of listening to radio broadcasts made several times in the day which end with the words, "the foregoing broadcast is sponsored by the chartered banks of Canada." Their story narrates imaginary conversations in which supposedly ignorant people are shown what benevolent institutions the banks are. They do not however add that "the hand behind the banks is at the throat of Canada."

What other inference can be taken from the reported words of Premier Mackenzie King? I quote: "Until the control of the issue of money and credit is restored to government and recognized as its most conspicuous and sacred responsibility, all talk of the sovereignty of parliament and of democracy is idle and futile."

If a clear and frank statement of policy is not soon made by the other political parties on this vital issue, we may witness a "landslide" in favor of the C.C.F. on this question alone, by hitherto Liberal and Conservative supporters.

I wonder if those who have so long enjoyed the distinction and emoluments of this injustice will have the wisdom to recognize that the hour of a "Free" Canada is about to strike, and how with decent grace to the inevitable.

Burnt-outs

Editor Bulletin: I would like to correct the impression that our grateful government allows us the sum of $25 to pay us for serving our country and giving up all.

The sum allowed is $20, some receive $25. For my part, as a married man, I did receive the supplementary allowance of $10, but on receiving the sum of $74—from an estate—was cut down at once to $40.

Still nobody has a word to say for us. Old age pensioners receive $30. Yet our great M.P.'s do a lot of sprouting how badly used they are, but not a word for the boys who fought and bled to keep some of them in their armchairs.

And King drivelling about social security, etc. A most disgraceful state of affairs.

Philosophers Clash

By ROBERT M. YODER in Chicago Daily News

The best thing their pals can do, I have decided, is to stay strictly out of the clash between Mortimer Adler of the University of Chicago and his brother philosopher, George Santayana, who, Mr. Adler a week ago as much as said, was no philosopher at all.

Mr. Adler's blunt charge was embodied in a review he wrote of a book by Mr. Santayana, in one of the Sunday papers. Mortimer went a little too far, I thought.

"Santayana's obiter dicta," he wrote, "reveal him to be at once a skeptic willing to dream, himself into solipsism, and a dogmatic.

(Wait, that's only part of it.) materialist for whom only the history of matter in motion is not the record of a dream."

"He," said Mr. Adler, meaning Santayana, "is not bothered by the inconsistency of his skepticism and his materialism, or by the deeper incompatibility which exists between his desire for god-like detachment from all local prejudices and partisan moods, and his irrational love for those customs and traditions which give him the peculiar set of prejudices he revels in and tries to rationalize."

Now that is speaking pretty plain, that is pretty rough talk. Adler is charging, if I understand it, that Mr. Santayana is neither a true-blue Skeptic nor a 100 per cent Dogmatic Materialist but a little of both. I mean, when you take the guy for a Skeptic, he's having one of his spells of being a Materialist, and just when you get him tabbed as a good solid Materialist, he goes Skeptical on you. That's what burns Mortimer, it's this continual shilly-shallying around. Why, he seems to ask, don't the guy get off the fence and make up his mind?

In the early hours the sleeper was roused by his nervous wife saying:

"John, I'm sure I heard someone coming up the stairs."

"What's the time?" he asked sleepily.

"Just two o'clock."

"Tha's all right," he said, turning over, "it'll be me."

Sumner Welles Says:

Regional Systems In An International Assembly Are of Prime Importance

This is the ninth of a series of articles by Sumner Welles, former United States Under Secretary of State, which appear exclusively each week in The Edmonton Bulletin.—EDITOR.

By SUMNER WELLES
Former United States Under Secretary of State

If the preliminary world organization is to be based upon regional systems similar to the present inter-American system the compositoin and powers of the executive council of the international organization, under whose general authority and supervision these regional systems would function, are of prime importance.

In the original Council of the League of Nations the five principal Allied powers were given permanent representatives, and four other members were elected by the League Assembly from among the smaller powers. Subsequently, the number of members of each category was increased. Action on all basic questions required unanimity in voting.

Sumner Welles

Experience has demonstrated that certain features of these arrangements caused serious difficulties. While the Assembly usually attempted to provide for regional distribution in electing representatives of the smaller powers to the Council the selection of individual governments rather than of representatives of regional groups of states resulted in a situation where the representation within the Council of the general interests of the other smaller states, or of policies of broad regional advantage, was rarely undertaken.

HINDERED ACTION

Moreover, the method of selecting representatives of the smaller states by the entire Assembly resulted in continued lobbying on the part of the former in order to secure election to the Council. Not infrequently the vital interests of smaller nations were prostituted for this purpose.

The requirement of unanimity in the voting of the members of the Council of the League often blocked necessary, or desirable, action.

The executive council which the United States should immediately create, so that they may all participate in the political decisions now being made, might advantageously be constituted, so far as present conditions permit, in such a manner as to enable it to become the embryo of the executive council of the future provisional international organization. Much valuable time and experience could thus be gained.

To be effective the executive council of the world organization must be small in number.

Permanent individual representation must be accorded to the four major powers — the United Kingdom, the Soviet Union, China and the United States—and, subsequently, to any other major power equally willing and able to participate through the employment of its armed force, in the maintenance of peace throughout the world. Additional representation should be given to the inter-American system; to a European organization—whether that comprises a single regional system or several systems; to a system of the Near East, and to one of the Far East. Furthermore, representation on the executive council should be accorded the British Commonwealth of Nations, since, while it is not a regional system, it comprises an association of autonomous states constituting one of the most powerful factors contributory to world order and stability. By reason of the geographical location of its component parts it is directly concerned in the maintenance of peace in each region of the world.

REPRESENTATIVES

The precise number of representatives upon the council to be elected by each system would necessarily be contingent upon the manner in which the European system in composed. The representation of the inter-American system should in any event be no less than that granted directly, or indirectly, to the states of Europe, whether they comprise one or several systems.

The four major powers must, of course, continue as members of their respective regional systems, and would participate in the election of regional representatives.

The powers to be granted by the United Nations to the executive council of the incipient world organization should be as broad as those intrusted to the Council of the League of Nations, namely, authority to deal with any matter "affecting the peace of the world," together with jurisdiction over all international agencies to be set up by common agreement between the United Nations.

No action should be taken by the executive council except upon the affirmative vote of two-thirds of its members, including within such two-thirds majority the votes of all four of the permanent representatives of the major powers.

TRANSITION PERIOD

In the transition period many of the matters to be dealt with by the executive council will involve the utilization of the armed forces of the major powers. It is therefore essential that in all decisions involving the use of their police powers, each should be in accord with the action to be taken.

As its agency in the carrying out of all decisions involving the use of police powers the executive council should appoint a security commission, consisting of military, naval and air experts, designated by the major powers.

In the selection of representatives of regional systems on the executive council, resort might be made to one of two alternative methods. The first method would provide for the representatives of each regional system to be designated yearly by rotation from among the states comprised within the regional system. The second method would envisage the election by the regional states of individuals, nationals of any state within the region, and chosen from lists of nominees proposed by all of the governments involved.

URGENT NEED

Agreement by the United Nations upon the designation of an executive council to represent all of them, both large and small, is a matter of urgent need. At the present time the great majority of the nations joined together in the common struggle for liberty have no voice in decisions which are being reached, and which must inevitably affect the future lives of all freedom-loving men and women. The events of the last few weeks have demonstrated more clearly than ever before how greatly this representative agency is needed—how gravely the possibility of successfully constituting a future world organization has been jeopardized by the long-protracted delay in its creation.

Agreements between the major powers, or bilateral pacts between some of the members of the United Nations, may be useful preliminary steps. They are not substitutes for an organization representative of all of the United Nations.

Jottings From House Session

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said yesterday in the House of Commons the date for the impending meeting of Dominion prime ministers with Prime Minister Churchill in London has not yet been set.

He was replying to a question by opposition leader Gordon Graydon.

"I have every intention of attending, unless prevented," he added.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, protested against delay in allotting seats and rooms to new members.

Speaker J. A. Glen said the matter was receiving attention but there were difficulties.

"If applications for rooms are in order," interjected Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative leader, "perhaps we might apply for about 150 after the next election." (The Progressive Conservatives now hold 39 seats.)

War Services Minister LaFleche said in the Commons he hopes to be able to announce appointments "within a very short time" to fill three vacancies on the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation board of governors. He spoke in reply to a question by opposition leader Gordon Graydon, who said he hoped consideration would be given to having farmer representation and a newspaperman on the board.

Stanley Knowles (C.C.F. Winnipeg North Centre) asked to have time set aside for a discussion of the government's new wartime wage-control order, which he said was the subject of considerable criticism. Prime Minister Mackenzie King declined to set a time for the discussion and said business of the session would be conducted according to the "ordinary procedure."

Justice Minister St. Laurent reported to the House that no person was detained under the Defence of Canada regulations from last July 1 to Jan. 25 this year.

J. M. Dechene (Lib. Athabaska) in a resolution placed on the order paper urged construction of a link between the Canadian National Railways and Canadian Pacific Railway with the Northern Alberta Railways system, and building of a highway from Edmonton to the Fort McMurray area of Alberta.

Consideration to the advisability of giving celar titles to all soldier settlers of the First Great War who still hold land under contract with the Soldier Settlement Board was asked by Robert Fair (N.D. Battle River) in a resolution placed on the order paper.

Col. O. M. Biggar of Ottawa receives no salary as director of censorship and chairman of the Canadian section of the Canada-U.S. Defence Board, it was stated in a return for Alfred Bence (P.C.-Saskatoon City). The return said the legal firm of Smart and Biggar, of which Col. Biggar is a member, has been paid $22,342 by the federal government for legal services since Sept. 1, 1939.

Prairie Farm Assistance Act collections in the form of a one-per-cent levy on all grain marketed through country elevators in the crop year 1943-44 totalled $2,729,086, said a tabled report. Because of good crop conditions, no payments to farmers were made under the act. Administrative costs were $157,013.

A return tabled for S. H Knowles (C.C.F.-Winnipeg North Centre), showed that 547 "dollar-a-year" men have been employed by the government since the war started. The munitions department with 257 heads the departmental list, and the Prices Board is second with 211.

There is to be some distribution of small arms ammunition for sporting purposes later this year.

Engine Explodes Causing Railmen Minor Injuries

ATHALMER, B.C., Jan. 29.—(CP)—Two trainmen suffered minor injuries and a third escaped unhurt when a Canadian Pacific Railway locomotive exploded and turned over here yesterday. The locomotive was detached from its train and there was no property damage except to the engine.

Engineer E. P. Kidwell of Nelson suffered slight burns, Fireman H. P. Martin of Cranbrook received a broken collarbone and Trainman H. J. Conroy of Cranbrook was unhurt.

Athalmer is about 50 miles west of the Alberta-British Columbia boundary and about 75 miles south of Golden.

U.S. Soldier Jailed As Agent of Japs

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A 33-year-old army corporal, charged by the United States government with being in the pay of Japanese for advising American lecture audiences that Japanese atrocity stories seldom were true, was sentenced yesterday to 30 months imprisonment. Judge Henry W. Goddard imposed the sentence on the guilty plea of Arthur Clifford Read to an idictment charging violation of the foreign agents registration law.

District News in Brief

Legislators Speak At Trochu Meeting

TROCHU.—R. E. Ansley, M.L.A. for Leduc and secretary of the Social Credit Board addressed a meeting in the Elks hall here Wednesday.

"All political parties are promising, if elected, to provide the people with a large number of beneficial and desirous results. The Social Credit proposals are the only one being offered that would fundamentally change the financial system, and make that which is physically possible, financially possible," he said.

He stressed the fact that there are international post-war financial proposals being suggested which would destroy the very heart of our national sovereignty. "If the people want post-war order built on the philosophy, or way of life in which they believe they themselves will have to bring it about. They must take united action to see to it that governments carry out their will rather than that of the vested interests and the world-planners," he said.

Norman Cooke, M.L.A. for Olds, reviewed the work done in his constituency during the past year.

He outlined the progress made in road work with the co-operation of individuals, municipalities and governments. George Walker acted as chairman at the meeting.

Honor Burns at Annual Banquet

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE.—No. 3 well at the Ram River Oils, 30 miles south-west of town, will be spudded-in this week, as the steel derrick has been completed. This well is on a higher structure than No. 2 and the company's geologist, Russell V. Johnson, estimates that it will not be necessary to go as deep as No. 2 well, 4,340 feet, to reach the producing zone.

Burns' night was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Stuart for the thirty-second year, with more than 80 persons attending, many of them Scotsmen and women who have not missed a celebration in the 32 years since the Stuarts came here from Scotland to homestead. Mr. Stuart gave the address to the haggis, and Mrs. Angus Martin, Leslieville, and Mrs. Frank Patterson and Mr. S. Dixon of Alhambra played Scotch music for the dancing.

Arnold Billings, 22 years old, of Delia, had his right arm badly cut when caught in the saw he was operating, and when he was brought in to the hospital in town, it was found necessary to amputate it just below the elbow. He was reaching over to shut the saw off when his sleeve caught in the blade. With his brother, Billings came here from his home in Delia after New Year's to work in the bush. This is the first serious accident in any of George Morrison's lumber camps in 22 years.

The Board of Trade has elected officers for 1944 as follows: President, W. H. Teskey; first vice-president, W. H. Schierholtz; second vice-president, James Horne; secretary-treasurer, E. Because of complaints that the fire siren cannot be heard more than a few blocks from the fire hall when there is any wind, the town council has decided to try and get a bigger, louder siren and to place it higher on the fire hall.

Red Cross Drive Seeks $10,000,000

OTTAWA, Jan. 29—(CP)—War Services Minister LaFleche announced last night a national campaign for $10,000,000 for the Canadian Red Cross will be launched Feb. 28.

"When the society made its appeal to the people last year there was a generous response, and I feel confident that the citizens of Canada will once more rally to the support of the Red Cross," the minister said in a statement.

"The decision to hold the national appeal, commencing Feb. 28, was made with the fullest co-operation of the Dominion government to avoid clashing with plans of the national war finance committe. Also, during the same period the American Red Cross will hold its national war appeal, making it a continent-wide campaign.

One of the biggest tasks facing the society during the current year is supplying food parcels for Canadian, British and empire prisoners of war in Europe and the Far East."

Financial requirements of the St. John Ambulance Association for their home nursing, first aid and brigade programs are included in the $10,000,000 objective.

3 Points Studied On Allownace Plan

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—(CP)—The government, it was learned yesterday, has three points still to decide in connection with the proposed family allowances—the size of the monthly payments, the age of children for which payments should be granted, and whether there should be a limit on the number of children eligible for allowances in any family.

The cabinet has been considering three figures—$5, $7 and $9—as the monthly allowance for each child but so far has reached no decision, it was learned.

Another suggestion on which no decision has been reached is that no family, regardless of how many children there are, should receive more than $30 a month or, at most, $40.

One proposal is that instead of a family limit the allowance should be on a sliding scale, with top allowance for the first child and a diminishing amount for each additional child.

The cabinet will give much consideration to these details and probably will not make an announcement until it brings down legislation to implement the forecast contained in the speech from the throne.

City Flier Shares "Bag" As Four Nazi Planes Downed

AN R.C.A.F. FIGHTER BASE, Somewhere in England, Jan. 29.—(CP)—Four members of the R.C.A.F. Mustang squadron commanded by Sqdn. Ldr. C. H. (Smokey) Stover of Sarnia, Ont., yesterday destroyed four enemy planes over the old French cathedral city of Chartres, 45 miles southwest of Paris, with such speed and thoroughness that the Nazis didn't fire a single shot in reply.

This bag brought to 11 the number of German planes destroyed by Canadian airmen in two daylight sweeps. A Mosquito squadron led by Wing Cmdr. Don MacDonald of Vancouver shot down seven on Thursday.

Yesterday's kills were shared by Flt. Lts. Gordon Wonnacott Edmonton, George W. Burroughs, Toronto, J. T. Seamen, Lewisville, N.B., and FO. R. O. Brown of Daysland, Alta.

The Canadians came on the Germans in pairs. Brown, a former intercollegiate light heavyweight boxing champion at McGill University, Montreal, got the first, and the other three Canadians had a hand in destroying the second plane, raking it with machine gun and cannon fire.

"No sooner had we knocked down the first two," Burroughs said, "than two Messerschmitt 109's appeared. It all happened so quickly that it is pretty hard to reconstruct but I know I shot down the first of this pair and seconds later could see Wonnacott's victim heading for the dirt."

This "show" lasted less than four minutes.

Wonnacott said when the Canadians finally caught up with the Germans yesterday they didn't seem anxious to fight but wanted to get away in a hurry "and we had to turn on a bit of juice to catch them."

NIPPED NUISANCE RAID

The Mosquito success Thursday is believed to have nipped a projected nuisance raid on Britain. The Canadians destroyed a Focke-Wulf 200, a four-engined bomber; a Heinkel 177, also a four-engined plane; a Heinkel 111 bomber and four Junkers bombers. Because of the type of planes knocked down it seemed the Nazis were preparing another large-scale raid. In last Friday's attack on London the Germans are known to have used an extraordinary mixture of aircraft.

Murder Trial

VANCOUVER, Jan. 29.—(CP)—Trial of Charles Hawken, charged with murdering Francis Boland last Dec. 13, will open in assize court here Feb. 7. Hawken, who claims the fatal shooting was in self-defence, has been unable as yet to raise the $15,000 bail set by supreme court.

City, Alberta Airmen With Berlin Raiders

By ALAN RANDAL

LONDON, Jan. 29.—(CP)—The Thunderbird, Goose and Leaside squadrons of the R.C.A.F. bomber group were included in the Canadian force which joined the R.A.F. in dropping a fresh deluge of bombs on Berlin Thursday night.

Canadians accounted for at least one enemy fighter which fell before the guns of Flt. Sgt. S. E. Campbell of Drumheller, Alta., making his 20th trip with the Goose squadron.

"We were just on the target rim when the fighter started to attack," said Campbell.

POURED IN BULLETS

On the third attack Campbell poured in bullets and saw the enemy plane explode on the ground.

Leasiders included two D.F.C. winners, POS. Tommy Spink of Vancouver and A. McIntosh of Revelstoke, B.C. McIntosh said he saw plenty of rockets and a few fighters but "the trip was uneventful."

"One rocket followed us before bursting near the aircraft," said Spink.

Flt. Sgt. S. B. Black of Innisfail, Alta., PO. G. F. Carruthers of Saskatoon, Sask., and Flt. Sgt. S. R. Holding of Welwin, Sask., made their first flight in an R.A.F. Lancaster.

Also in the raiding force were PO. G. V. Daymond of Edmonton, Flt. Sgt. C. Demaria of High River, Alta., and FO.'s E. S. Moore of Edson, Alta., and I. N. Peterson of Grassy Lake, Alta.

Govt. Machinery Urged to Handle Job Placements

OTTAWA, Jan. 29—(CP)—Provision of exclusive jurisdiction to the Dominion employment service in providing facilities for the placement of labor in the post-war period was recommended in a report of the advisory committee on reconstruction tabled yesterday in the commons.

A sub-committee on post-war employment opportunities recommended also that there should be an inventory of manpower and an inventory of jobs which would form the basis of the task of the employment service.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

The major requirement in the field of labor supply and re-employment problems was the development of machinery operating throughout the Dominion by which unemployed individuals in any part of the country could be made aware of appropriate employment opportunities in any other part, the report said.

"Such machinery is a prerequisite for the smooth execution of any demobilization program, just as much as it is for purposes of post-war reconstruction."

The Dominion employment service was the basic machinery now in operation and would have an equally important job operating "in reverse." Important use could also be made of the Dominion-provincial training program, the post-discharge re-establishment order being administered by the pensions department, and the unemployment insurance organization.

If necessary, the British North America Act should be amended to provide exclusive jurisdiction for the Dominion employment service, said the report.

(The figures do not include the Southwest Pacific.)

Helping People Attain Financial Security

Increasing numbers of people in every walk of life have come to rely on the London Life for financial security.

Who are these people? Wage earners, the largest group in the country, own by far the greatest number of policies. Business and professional men are equally well represented. The number of London Life policyholders has grown until today it is as great as the combined populations of Vancouver, Regina, Windsor, Ottawa and Halifax.

What do they want? These people want to get ahead in the world, own a home, educate their children, make provision for their dependents, and live comfortably in old age.

What do they do about it? They choose life insurance to guarantee the fulfillment of their aims; it is the only form of savings which, under all circumstances, can assure attainment of the objectives they have set.

Who counsels them? Our representatives — specially trained to give sound and helpful advice to persons seeking financial security. Such services have proven invaluable, whether the plans of the individual are simple or extensive.

How wise is their choice? In the London Life they are insured with a company which lives up to the highest traditions of the business, safeguarding in every way the interests of its policyholders. The ultimate test of a company is its ability to furnish insurance at low cost and maintain at the same time a strong financial position. In this, the London Life has established a noteworthy record through the years.

ACCOMPANIED by Coach Joe Brown and Smythe Fleming, vice-president of the club, Canadian Athletic Club Juniors left last night for Lloydminster, Sask., where they are scheduled to play Saskatoon Lions in an exhibition game this evening.

List of players making the trip included Alex Cavalli, Bob Causgrove, Harvey Green, Ken Cox, Jim Fleming, "Christy" Christenson, Jim Slugg, Arnold Armstrong, Cyril Thomas, Jim Rypien, Bernie O'Connor and Ivan Krook. Ken Henry, manager of the team was unable to make the trip.

Edmonton Athletic Club and H.M.C.S. Navy will play a regular Junior Hockey League game at 119 street rink tonight commencing at 8.30. The Navy won the clash with E. A. Cees last Saturday by a score of 5-2 and as a result hold a one-point edge on their rivals in the league standings.

HABITANT GOALERS

FRENCH Canadians lead all other nationalities in the goal-keeping department of the National Hockey League. And three of the Habitant persuasion have recently turned in very creditable net manning performances in the major loop.

Paul Bibeault, for the Toronto Leafs, Connie Dion of Detroit Red Wings and Maurice Courteau with Boston Bruins are the current year's quota. Bibeault faced a goalie of his own nationality in two successive games recently—Dion at Toronto when Wings won 6-4 and Courteau at Boston when Leafs scored a 7-2 triumph.

First of the great French Canadian goalers was Georges Vezina, of Chicoutimi, Quebec, one of hockey's immortals and for whom the Vezina trophy was given. Vezina collapsed during a league game and died soon afterward. Lorne Chabot, who played for Rangers, Leafs, Chicago and Montreal Canadiens was a French Canadian star and Claude Bourque, now in the Air Force another.

HERE AND THERE

BILL "Flash" Hollett, recently traded by Boston Bruins to Detroit Red Wings in the biggest swap to date in the National Hockey League, won the quickest promotion on record. A few days after he joined the Wings, Hollett was elected their captain. He responded with the tying goal at Montreal, January 13 and scored the clincher when Wings defeated Maple Leafs in Toronto by a 6-4 count two days later. Hollett is credited with having much to do with the rejuvenation of the Detroit club and right now the Wings are the hottest team in the league.

This is the story of how "Pat" Egan, of Boston Bruins got the name "Pat". When the Egans moved to Calgary neighbors placed a huge shamrock on their front door, a gesture of their nationality the kids in the neighborhood to nickname Martin Joseph "Pat". To his mother of course "Pat" has never been anybody but Martin, but the nickname stuck in hockey.

One of the fastest three-goal scoring feats of the season in the N.H.L. took place at Toronto on Jan. 15. Detroit Wings, two goals in arrears in the third period, ran in three in a row, in one minute, nine seconds and ultimately won the game 6-4. Armstrong, Brown and Howe turned the trick.

Possibly the continued Indian Summer may have something to do with it, but evidently members of the Edmonton Golf and Country Club are becoming a trifle uneasy for another peek at the fairways. According to reports reaching this corner, plans are already underway for what promises to be a very active season at this club. The annual meeting is scheduled for next month.

Angott and Jack Battle to 10-Round Draw

Honors Even As Fighters Go All Out

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP) — Before Madison Square Garden's first sell-out crowd in a year, Sammy Angott and Beau Jack battled through 10 rounds of a clinch-and-clout to a draw Friday night in a bristling battle between the two recognized world lightweight champions —but with no title at stake. Angott scaled 140, Jack 138.

From start to finish it was anybody's brawl, with both battlers obviously throwing their Sunday punch with every shot — and it wound up that way, with the officials unable to pick a winner.

Sammy Angott

The Associated Press score card also finished with an even-up verdict, giving each thumper four rounds, calling two even, but voting Angott, the National Boxing Association's world 135-pound boss, the first and eighth by the biggest margins of any heats during the tussle.

Last night's tilt, put on for the entertainment of 19,113 customers who poured $84,870 into Mike Jacobs' strongboxes, served as a "preliminary" to the forthcoming activities agreed upon earlier yesterday to unbend the lightweight pretzel and leave one champion where two now are blooming.

Under this agreement, the Jumping Jack puts his New York crown on the line against Bobcat Montgomery of Philadelphia on March 31 here. Then the winner agreed to amble out against Angott May 26, also in the Garden. In the meantime, Angott will defend his N.B.A. title against Juan Zurita in Los Angeles March 6.

There wasn't anything even close to a knockdown in the fight, although Jack missed a right hander aimed at the ribs in the eighth, slipped and went down on his back, with Sammy half on top of him.

Angott was seen to limp as he walked out of the ring and later his manager, Charley Jones, explained that he had hurt his left leg in training last Saturday and appeared to have aggravated it in the ring last night.

From the word go both boys were playing for keeps. In the second, the Jumping Jack let a hook go that caught Sammy flush on the ear with a resounding "blop" that could be heard all over the Garden.

Beau Jack

They hammered away through the third with no one getting the upper hand, but in the fifth, Angott snapped the ex-shoe shine boy's head back with a ripping right uppercut. Through the next heat, Sammy suddenly switched to the body while Jack swung for the head.

In the eighth, Angott had all the better of it. The Beau bounced back in the ninth with a long right to the jaw that half-spun Sammy around, almost into a neutral corner.

Through the 10th, they kept up the same swatting tempo, obviously trying for a knockout until the final gong.

Dynamiters Lose In Maple Leaf Bantam League

The Maple Leaf Bantam League produced three very closely contested and exciting games this week, in which the league-leading Dynamiters received two setbacks. The first one was Monday night by the Bombers, who took them into camp by the score of four to one. Richard Wheatley, Russell Molofy, Don Brown and Bill McPherson scored for the winners, with Bill Page scoring on a pass from Peter Carp for the Dnyamiters.

On Tuesday night the Beavers again took the Dynamiters into camp to the tune of two to one. Ross Hosack scored both counters for the winners, the lone score for the losers being again netted by Page from Carp.

The Wednesday night game between the Bombers and the Spitfires was a free scoring exhibition, the bombers finally getting the heavy end of a seven to four score. Bill McPherson and Eldor Thomas combined to score three of the Bombers goals, Russell Malofy and Jack Lee netting two on combination plays. Richard Christie scored unassisted and passed one to Gordon Hilker for the final count of seven. Albert Mergard scored three goals unassisted for the Spitfires, the forth counter on a pass from Gordon Gallard.

From this week's play the three stars are McPherson, Bombers' centre; Mergard, Spitfires' centre, and McNeil, the Beavers' goalie. A much better class of hockey was played by all the teams this week in every department.

"Treasury Game" Is Cancelled

NEW YORK, Jan. 29—(AP)—The hockey game between former members of the New York Rangers and Brooklyn Crescents teams, scheduled for next Sunday as a part of the fourth war loan drive, was cancelled Friday when United States treasury department officials learned that most of the players who were to take part would be unable to appear.

The Canadian government refused permission for five Canadian army men to come to New York Sunday and the United States Navy declined to grant leave to several members of the Curtis Bay, Md., Coast Guard team who had been invited to round out the squads.

U.S. Air Corps Clinches Berth Service Playoffs

U.S. Army Air Corps has clinched first place in the Inter-Service Basketball League by chalking up four wins without a setback in the second round of the schedule. No other berths have yet been decided and the remaining three playoff spots will likely be strongly fought for during the balance of the schedule.

No. 3 "M" Depot ranks second to Air Corps in the last round with three wins while No. 2 Air Observer School, No. 4 Initial Training School, H.M.C.S. Nonsuch and U.S. 402nd Service Squadron all have two victories to their credit.

Next games in the league will be on Monday night when 402nd squadron meets No. 2 A.O.S. at the latter's drill hall and 16th Weather Detachment takes on the leading U.S. Airmen at No. 3 "B" depot. No. 4 I.T.S. plays Nonsuch on the former's home floor on Tuesday.

Coote Rink Wins Challenge In Veterans' Annual 'Spiel

THE rink skipped by Bill Coote captured the grand challenge in the sixth annual Veterans' bonspiel Friday morning by defeating Bert Hill's quartet 11-10 in a 12 end final. H. S. Hegler won the secondary event and Alf Gregory took the tertiary in the 'spiel which was played at the Alberta Avenue curling rink.

The finals in all competitions were staged in the morning and the luncheon was held at noon followed by the annual meeting and election of officers. W. Carter was named to succeed H. S. Hegler as president of the Veterans' Curling Association and Morley Seller was returned as secretary-treasurer.

The Coote rink of the Granite which includes C. L. Race, P. R. Thompson and A. Isaac, had to go all out to knock over Hill's four which includes A. E. Cook, J. Dowdell and A. W. Richards, in the main event final. The latter club was ahead 10-9 after 11 ends of close play, but Coote counted two and the last to win out.

Score by ends:

Coote . . . . . 102 100 211 102—11
Hill . . . . . 010 024 000 030—10

Third prize of the challenge went to W. G. Walford's quartet when they edged out Ab. Clutterham's Tofield crew 13-9. The visitors took a 2-0 lead on the first end, but Walford went ahead on the third after making up one on the second, and then went on to gain their victory.

Score by ends:

Walford . . . . . 013 102 114 0—13
Clutterham . . . . . 200 010 000 6— 9

SECONDARY EVENT

The secondary event final was probably the most outstanding game of all the playoffs, and saw H. S. Hegler's rink edge out Rev. Jack Goddard of Leduc 11-9. The game, which took almost four hours to play, was close all the way and Hegler was out in front 10-8 after counting three on the 10th.

Goddard came back on the 11th to make it 10-9 and was lying three on the last with an "excellent" guard and appeared to have the match in the bag when Dr. V. S. Kaufman, third man on Hegler's club, came in with a perfect shot to knock out Goddard's three rocks and count one to clinch first prize in the competition.

Score by ends:

Hegler . . . . . 140 101 000 301—11
Goddard . . . . . 004 010 111 010— 9

W. C. Townsley and W. H. Croft played for third and fourth places in the secondary and the former took a 10-9 decision, leading most of the way.

Score by ends:

Townsley . . . . . 100 013 300 020—10
Croft . . . . . 011 100 012 201— 9

TERTIARY COMPETITION

Top honors in the tertiary went to Alf Gregory's Alberta Avenue four when they defeated H. Christman's Thistle rink 12-8. Gregory had a little edge early in the match and was leading 6-4 starting the seventh, but Christman counted four on that end and went ahead 8-6 to force the winners to go all out in the latter part of the game to win.

Score by ends:

Gregory . . . . . 030 110 102 112—12
Christman . . . . . 101 002 040 000— 8

Third prize in this event went to the crew skipped by W. Carter, beating Jack Gagnon's club 9-7 in a contest that depended on the last end. Gagnon's quartet picked up fourth prize in the competition.

Score by ends:

Carter . . . . . 000 311 111 001—9
Gagnon . . . . . 211 000 000 210—7

At the meeting, M. W. Fyfe was elected honorary president and E. S. Barker and W. H. Gordon were voted life members of the association. Two minutes silence was held in respect to three members who passed away during the past year.

Executiv committee named is as follows: C. L. Race, C. H. Croft (Granite), W. G. Walford, E. Austin (Royal), A. A. Hall, George Laight (Edmonton), W. Townsley, A. Killips (Alberta Avenue), H. Christman, A. P. Gregory (Thistle), A. B. Clutterham, Rev. J. Goddard (Rural).

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Col. Matt Winn, a practical visionary who cemented the north and south after the civil war with his heart-prodding Kentucky Derby, suggests now that war-taxed America should have a national lottery.

Colonel Winn, a young man of 83, hopes that the American Legion or some other national organization takes quick steps to sponsor a national lottery to prevent the men now in service from paying huge income taxes when they return from risking their lives at the far-flung fronts.

Colonel Winn says, "Our government could establish a national lottery without much additional cost through its postal department, and thereby add three or four billion dollars a year to its income. It could take advantage of the more liberal feeling in our country toward wagering.

BECOMING UNIVERSAL

"It could cash in on the money bet daily with round-the-corner bookies, and on the money changing hands in the floating crap games in which the unwary sucker hasn't much chance."

Col. Winn, in New York to make plans for the tracks in which he is interested—Empire, Laurel, Churchill Downs and Lincoln Fields — emphasized that every Latin American country had its national lotteries: likewise several European countries.

He explained that in the United States the "Long Hairs" hesitated to collect money for the national treasury through a lottery; yet they had no reluctance to accept the tax money from racketeers—or to see that those racketeers were thrown into prison when they failed to pay the proper income taxes on their earnings from illicit gambling.

SUGGESTS SIX TOP RACES

BECAUSE of this insistence on collections from racket gamblers, Col. Winn insists that the government already is a partner in gambling. And he pats the government on the back for being such a partner—for getting all it can from the gamblers. But he deplores the fact that the government is merely picking up the chips and missing the tree trunks.

Col. Winn suggested that Americans have a national lottery based on six top races through each year—the Derby, Belmont Stakes, Preakness, Arlington Classic, and two on the winter Florida circuit.

He said, "Six lotteries a year would be patronized surprisingly by the American public. They not only would cut down the taxes for returning service men, but also for everyone in this country. Moreover, they would offer the chances of riches to men and women who never would naturally have a chance to get rich."

South Side Club Wins in Canadian Bantam Circuit

The South Side Canadian Athletic Club Bantams took over undisputed leadership in the Canuck Bantam Hockey Loop as they walloped the Stadium Bantams 5-0 in a contest played at the Stadium rink last night.

The winners got down to business in a hurry and before the game was three minutes old they were on the score sheet. Vern Arndt shot this initial counter after taking a goal mouth pass from Pat McDonald.

The South Side gang went two up in the second period when Maurice Gauthier dented the hemp after some smart passing with Harry Meyer. This was the only marker of the session which saw the Stadium team play their best hockey of the night. Peter Carp, Terry Melnychuck and George Lawrence all passed up glorious scoring opportunities.

The boys from the South Side of the river really put on the pressure in the final session. Pat McDonald flashed the red light at the eight minute mark after picking up a short pass from Gauthier. Then at the 12 minute mark, Harry Meyer, who played a standout game for the winners, counted, assisted by Gauthier. With just two minutes of play remaining, Meyers wound up scoring for the evening on a smart solo rush.

LINEUPS

Major And Minor Notes

By John Oliver

NEXT Friday the penultimate concert of the current season's Celebrity Series will be given at McDougall auditorium, by Artur Rubinstein, pianist. After that comes the recital by Jan Peerce, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Association, and then the curtain falls until another season rolls round. But before that two of the foremost artists in the world today will have been added to the roster of distinguished visitors in the Celebrity Series. For no pianist before the public today tops Mr. Rubinstein, and Mr. Peerce's success in the two years he has been at the Metropolitan has assured his place in the front rank of singers. Fred M. Gee, Winnipeg impressario who co-operates with the Women's Musical Club in sponsoring the Celebrity Series, was due to leave the Manitoba capital last night for New York to interview artists and managers, and complete bookings for next season.

JOHN OLIVER

Mr. Rubinstein will play a program that will give him ample opportunity for interpreting the works of two of the outstanding composers for the piano, namely, Beethoven and Chopin. Also he will be heard in the works of modern writers. The program is as follows: Sonata in F Minor, opus 57 (The Appassionata), Allegro, Andante con moto and Finale, Beethoven; Ballade in A Flat, Two Etudes, Nocturne and Polonaise opus 53, all by Chopin; Prelude, and Undine, Debussy; Nocturne for Left Hand, Scriabin; Polka, Shostakovich; Mephisto Waltz, Liszt.

Those who are contemplating attending are directed to a remark made in this column last Saturday, to the effect that they would be well advised to be on time. The Beethoven Sonata, as played by Mr. Rubinstein, requires 25 minutes. Once he starts to play none will be admitted to the auditorium, and perhaps not even to the outer rotunda. As 25 minutes is a long time to wait, it would be in your interests to start from home a few minutes earlier. And besides, who would want to miss hearing any of this choice part of the program?

In view of the fact that Mrs. Rubinstein is coming with her distinguished husband, the Women's Musical Club is considering holding a reception for them, but at this writing definite decision had not been made. Mrs. Ernest Meaden, Celebrity Series manager, reports that there has been a heavy volume of requests for the necessary admission tickets. The reserved seats all were disposed of long ago, and the "rush" accommodation will go on the block at Heintzman's at 10 a.m. Monday.

Mrs. J. B. Carmichael, general musical director of the Edmonton Civic Opera Society, has received the vocal scores, chorus parts, stage guide and other rehearsal material for the production of Rudolf Friml's musical play "Katinka," which is to be given at the Strand theatre on March 28, 29 and 30. The orchestral parts have not yet arrived, but are expected within the next week.

Rehearsals will get under way at the Separate School hall, 103 street, at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday. Heretofore they have started at 8 p.m., but it is felt that the extra half-hour can be put to good use. Assisting Mrs. Carmichael will be Laurier Picard as dramatic director; Mrs. B. T. Olsen as chorus director, and Juneau Moore as choreographer. The cast has not yet been picked, pending close scrutiny of vocal and dramatic requirements, but it is fairly certain that Noreen Bristow Shirley Neher, Joseph Nadeau and John Markle will fill leading roles.

Jean Braschuk, former city singer, is continuing a successful career on the Pacific coast. After achieving distinction in summer productions at the Vancouver Theatre Under the Stars, she has embarked on a concert tour of the Seattle-Portland area, and each appearance has been marked with such success that other engagements have followed rapidly.

Scandinavian composers will be featured at the University Musical Club meeting at 9 p.m. Sunday at Convocation Hall. Mrs. Robert Newton will introduce the program with an address on Scandinavian music in general. The concert itself will be given by a group of well-known members of the younger group of city artists. Dorothy Barber will play Grieg's suite From Holberg's Time, and George Kerr, violinist, and Lucy Gainer, pianist, will play the first movement of Grieg's Sonata for Violin and Piano, opus 13, No. 2. Prof. L. H. Nichols, university organist, will play four brief organ works by Sibelius and Torjussen. Under the direction of Gwyneth Jones, the university choir will sing a group of three folk tunes, one Finnish, one Swedish, and one Norwegian. Shirley Neher, soprano, will sing Grieg's Solveig's Song, and Kjerulf's Last Night. The meeting will be open, and officials have issued a special invitation to all service men and women to attend.

Interest in the 37th annual competitive festival of the Alberta Musical Festival Association, to be held here May 17-22, is reported by officials as being widespread and intense. H. G. Turner, whose efforts on the part of the event are both unflagging and productive, is anxious that prospective contenders realize that entries will not be accepted after April 17. He stated that there is interest in almost all classes, and that the prospects of some close, interesting competitions are bright. The adjudicators will be Sir Ernest MacMillan and Max Pirani.

Works by Franz Schubert will comprise the program to be given at the regular meeting of the Women's Musical Club at the Masonic Temple next Saturday. Included will be several examples of the lieder form, a form which Schubert brought to a high state of development. A sonatina for violin is certain to not only please, but to show the refined beauty characteristic of his violin compositions. The rarely-heard Wanderer Fantasie will be played. One of Schubert's larger piano works, it is almost symphonic in the breadth and magnitude of its treatment. The second movement, an adagio, is based on the same theme as Schubert's world-famous song The Wanderer, and it is from this that the fantasie takes its name.

There will be a recital at the Public Library, Macdonald Drive at 3:30 p.m. Sunday that gives every promise of being both artistic and enjoyable. It will be a joint recital by Cathryn Zender, mezzo-soprano, and Nelda Faulkner, pianist. G. A. Kevan will be at the piano for Miss Zender's accompaniments. The recital has been arranged by the library authorities with the co-operation of the Edmonton branch of the Alberta Music Teachers Association.

The program is as follows: Air a la Bourree, Handel, Miss Faulkner; Care Selve, Handel, and Happy Flock, Bach, Miss Zender; 2nd and 3rd movements of the "Farewell" Sonata, Beethoven, Miss Faulkner: May Night, Brahms, and Secrecy, Hugo Wolf, Miss Zender; Ballade in A Flat, Chopin, and Rhapsody in G Minor, Brahms, Miss Faulkner; Into the Night, Clara Edwards and Time You Old Gypsy Man, Besly, Do Not Go My Love, Hageman and A China Figure, Leoni, Miss Zender; Reflections in the Water, Debussy, and Java Dances, Godowsky, Miss Faulkner.

The program will be as follows: Prelude, Lemmens; Introduction and Passacaglia, Rheinberger; Siciliano, Bossi; Sonata No. 1, Harwood, Allegro appassionata, andante and maestoso; Fountain Reverie, Fletcher; Sur un Theme Breton, Ropartz; Song of Spring, Hollins and Pastorale, Ricitative, and Chorale, Karg-Elert.

Warns Canada Must Beware Of Socialism

WINNIPEG, Jan. 29.—(CP)—Canada is at the crossroads with one road leading to progressive democracy and the other leading to regimentation and dictatorship, declared George A. Dobbie of Galt, Ont., president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, in a speech prepared for delivery last night to the Winnipeg Board of Trade.

"This most vital decision has to be made not by our business men nor by workers nor by groups, but by all the people in this country," he said.

"Having in mind the common sense and the high standard of citizenship in Canada I believe the final solution will be found in a maximum amount of opportunity for us to operate our industries, our farms, our garages and our corner stores, subject to a minimum of government control to ensure our citizens against exploitation.

"However, he asserted, "the forcing striving for more state control are voluble and insistent, even though they are not strong on logic.

"We must be vigilant. We must not through ignorance or apathy fail to protect this Dominion against a state-operated or state-dominated economy, with all of its inefficiency and illusory welfare of our citizens."

He remarked that Canada in common with all countries suffered by the depression of 1930-36 and "No one will claim that we dealt with it in a sound or humane manner. The impact was of such severity that it seemed to stagger us into the loss of our responsibility.

"No Socialized state," he declared, "has been able to provide its people with the same standards of living as we have enjoyed in Canada. In fact, no such state has been able to satisfy its own consumers. It is not their make-up. Only free men working in a free competitive environment are able to maintain an ample flow of consumer goods at competitive prices."

Business can contribute substantially to solving those problems which will face Canada in the coming years, he concluded. "The profit motive, in other words, must be allowed to act."

Hi-School Hi-Lights

VARSITY
By Jeanne Gould

On Friday, January 21, Varsity High presened the first "Lit" of the new year. The auditorium shook with laughter as students thoroughly enjoyed an original skit, "The Evolution of Music," written and produced by some of the more talented members of the male population. This production, along with several solo numbers, made the "Lit" one of the best yet.

Students are "burning the midnight oil" studying for term exams which begin Wednesday, February 2, and will continue each Wednesday and Friday through February.

McDOUGALL
By Reva Taradash

The "talent lit" last Friday was acclaimed a success by the student body as well as the teaching staff. The literary committee did a fine piece of work in putting over this affair.

One of the outstanding features of the program, the Illiterate Four, consisting of Gwen Allen, Hazel Macdonald, Iona Loveseth, Muriel Hall, sang two catchy comical songs, that had the audience in fits of laughter.

The highlight of the lit. was a skit by the Drama club, in which the students displayed their excellent acting abilities. Those taking part in the skit were: Lloyd Mortimer, Lorraine Macdonald, Waunita Reynolds, Doreen Mackay, Anne Corbett and Reva Taradash.

Another highlight was talented Jeannette Florko, who in her best Kate Smith manner, sange My Heart Tells Me and God Bless America, which the latter made so popular.

Brought back by populuar demand, Dave Bembow, again displayed his capability of tickling the ivories in his unique interpretation of Sunday, Monday or Always.

The singing of God Save the King and the saluting of the flag concluded this entertaining program.

WESTGLEN
By Jack Gibbons

Westglen has gone over the top in its war stamp drive, with Room 5 winning the war pennant. The Hi-Y has done a good job in the first drive and various organizations will take their turn.

Westglen and Scona have won a game apiece against Victoria in a series of six. They will play each other on Feb. 1. The winner will be the champion of Northern Alberta, and then will travel to Calgary for the provincial competitions.

A skating party and moccasin dance was staged by the Outdoor club, Friday, and a good time was had by all.

Ralph Young, of the Y.M.C.A., addressed the students on Monday. His topic was the newly formed Mountglen "Y" Association in connection with high school students.

SCONA
By John Macdonald

This week, the officers of the Tricolor are working with increased activity. At present, all the members of the graduating class are having their pictures taken, and those in charge are asking for all the interesting snaps that they can get.

On Friday night about 100 members of the Badminton club, held a very successful sleigh ride. After the ride, the entire party returned to the school for refreshments and entertainment.

On Monday the senior boys' basketball team defeated Vic 32-24 on the latter team's floor. At Scona on Tuesday, the junior team was defeated by Westglen, with a score of 42-0.

We don't want to offer any excuses, but if some better school support was given to our teams, they might do better in their games.

ST. MARY'S
By Nora McGannon

Are you having fun? "Yes", is the unanimous answer from the members of the bowling club. Since Christmas, they have been making weekly trips to the "Rec." for a couple of games. Although some of the girls had never bowled before, they are doing surprisingly well. The number of spares and strikes aren't as numerous as we would like them to be, but Catherine Conroy, the president of the club, seems to be satisfied. "After all, we're not professionals," she said.

Leona Patterson is very busy at present with the dramatics club. We're hoping it won't be too long before they have something ready for us to see.

EASTWOOD
By Susanna Alexeeff

Room 20 took the lead this week in the purchase of war savings stamps, and now has nine bombers pasted on the "Victory Chart". Room 21 is in second place this week.

The second edition of the Gazette came out last Wednesday. At a meeting of the grad class executive, it was decided that members would sponsor the publishing of a year book in conjunction with the Gazette staff.

Since all the rooms had paid their Students' Union fees, "stars" were issued to each room to be hung up.

Most of the Grade 12 students are not happy at the prospect of having long examinations beginning Feb. 14, which was announced some time ago.

E.H.S. Army Cadets are now taking rifle practice every Tuesday and Thursday during noon hour at No. 3 "M" Depot.

Young People's Activities

From Jan. 30 to Feb. 5 will be observed as Youth Week by young people all over Protestant America. The theme for this week is "One Faith, One Fellowship." The aim is to deepen basic faith and to reach out and join hands with other Christian youth groups striving toward common goals. During this week, the ministers in the churches will preach to the young people, and in many cases, the young people will take an active part in the service. Miss Margaret Latter, past president of the Edmonton Presbytery Young People's Union, will be guest speaker at Avonmore United church, at the evening service on Feb. 6.

EASTWOOD

Dora Schuster led the devotional at last week's regular meeting. Joyce Schrag presented a financial report at the annual congregational meeting, which was held in the church on Jan. 28.

ERSKINE

A sleigh ride has been planned for Saturday evening. Plans have also been made for a Youth Week church service. The devotional was led by Janet Elliott. A debate "Resolved that moving pictures influence public opinion more than does the press" was won by the two Bills, who upheld the affirmative. The speakers on the negative side were Zoe Williams and Ina Ward.

METROPOLITAN

A successful skating party was held at the Garneau rink, with lunch served afterward at the church. The union entertained the Knox union at the last meeting. Next week's meeting will be taken by the U.S. Army Air Corps.

Bissell C. G. I. T. Plans Busy Time

The Bissell C.G.I.T., led by Miss Whitley, is working on a missionary project. The work of missionaries in Africa, India, China and Trinidad is studied. Each week, two girls lead a discussion, followed by a worship service.

Every Thursday, from 7:30 to 8 p.m. the girls practice basketball, after which, for 15 minutes, the junior group joins for a sing-song.

Before Christmas, the group made small articles, bought food and filled a hamper for a family.

The basketball team lost against McDonald Baptist in a game on Jan. 17.

A C.G.I.T. service is being planned for Feb. 6.

Sleighing Party

The mothers' group of the 22nd Scouts and Cubs recently treated the boys to a sleighing party. The boys were accompanied by Ruth Haddad, the Cub mistress, and Mr. Bowers, the Scout master.

Afterwards moving pictures were shown in the hut by Mr. Bowers, and refreshments were served by the mothers. Convenors were Mrs. Millar and Mrs. Crawford.

MRS. SQUIRRELS HOUSE

(To be colored with paints or crayons. Whenever you come to a word spelled in CAPITAL letters use that color.)

Mrs. GRAY (use BLACK lightly) Squirrel lived in a little BROWN house up in a tall tree (the walls and floors were BROWN).

YELLOW-haired Susie May and BROWN-haired Teddy were invited to visit Mrs. Squirrel one day. Susie May put on her dark BLUE coat and RED tam o'shanter.

"You'd better wear your TAN (use BROWN and YELLOW mixed) leggings," said Teddy, pulling on his heavy GRAY overcoat and buttoning on his GRAY leggings. "We can take little Sally Squirrel out for a snow-ride in the TAN nutshell sled I made for her! It will be lots of fun!"

"Oh, I'd just love to take Sally out—we can tuck her up so nice and warm in my dolly's PINK (use RED lightly) blanket, and you can fasten long RED ropes on the sled to pull it!"

Susie May wore her BLUE scarf. It had narrow RED stripes on it and a big RED tassel at both ends.

Mrs. Squirrel was delighted to have Susie May and Teddy take little Sally Squirrel out sledding—and dolly's blanket was just right. Mrs. Squirrel wore a big white scarf about her shoulders caught with a large RED pin in front. The pin had a YELLOW setting which Susie May knew was real GOLD. Mrs. Squirrel's apron was GREEN and white checked material and she wore YELLOW slippers with GREEN pompons on them.

"What pretty carpet you have!" cried Susie May. The carpet was a RED maple leaf with YELLOW veins.

"A birthday present from my cousins the birds!" explained Mrs. Squirrel proudly. "But just look into my little YELLOW china cupboard at the beautiful GREEN set of acorn cups Mr. Squirrel gave me for Christmas!"

"Oh, lovely!" cried Susie May.

The sky outside was BLUE, and there was a snow-covered tree.

Atrocity Charges Just Propaganda Japanese Assert

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP)—In the first Japanese reaction to United States and British disclosures of brutal Japanese treatment of war prisoners, the Tokyo Domei Agency said last night in a wireless dispatch for A erican consumption that the charges were "a mere recurrence of the enemy's vicious propaganda." The English-language transmission attributed to "competent military quarters" in Tokyo a counter-charge of "bestial acts of terrorism and inhumanity repeatedly perpetuated by the enemy."

Destruction of Meats Subject Of Discussion

The problem of meat game destruction by wolves and coyotes should be one that concerns everyone, Dr. R. A. Rooney, past president of the Alberta Fish and Game Protective League, said Friday night.

In an address before the Edmonton branch of the Northern Alberta Fish and Game Protective League at the Corona hotel, Dr. Rooney pointed out that next to scenery, game is one of Alberta's greatest assets for tourist trade.

He related several instances of destruction and recommended that some biological study be made of the best ways and means of ridding the province of the ravages of game made by wolves and coyotes.

In the United States, he said, the infection of coyotes with mange helped to practically eliminate the problem of destruction.

Other methods of control might be developed from a biological study made here. In the event this study proved unsuccessful in controlling or stamping out the destruction, Dr. Rooney said, a governmental poisoning campaign conducted exclusively by the provincial game department would be the other alternative.

WOULD BE PREFERABLE

He pointed out, however, that the biological study for methods of control would be preferable as methods could be devised whereby only the wolves and coyotes would be infected, whereas in a poisoning campaign there is always the danger of other animals being destroyed.

Also addressing the meeting were Mr. Brown of the entomology branch of the University of Alberta and Ray Ruge, ice-boating enthusiast.

Mr. Brown spoke on researches conducted on diseases among moose and deer. Mr. Ruge gave a commentary on a newsreel of the 1941 championship race meet of the Eastern Ice-Yachting Association of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, entitled "Whistling Wings". Other films also were shown.

5 City Youths Confess Thefts Juvenile Court

Five Edmonton youths, members of a gang of young offenders, acknowledged their parts in a variety of crimes, from theft and breaking and entering to shooting out of season and stabbing a dog, in juvenile court, Friday.

Theft of several autos in Edmonton, and a two-day trip to Gibbons in one of them, where further thefts were committed, as well as shooting at a horse, out-of-season shooting of prairie chicken, the rifling of a cash register were among other things admitted.

One of the quintet was told he "wasn't as smart as you think you are, and you are all a bright lot of specimens," by the Rev. Father C. J. Foran. The Rev. Canon A. M. Trendall, who occupied the bench with him, agreed.

"I want you to get out of this city—and stay out for the next 12 months," continued Father Foran. "If you put your snout a foot inside Edmonton in the next year, the authorities will have orders to pick you up. You are at the end of your rope!"

PARENTS ATTEND

Parents of some of the youths were in attendance, one of whom told the court that his son had not acted as he had because of shortage of funds. The boy had been earning between $80 and $90 a month.

"There's an old man outside who wants to take me to Ontario with him," the youth said.

"I have not much respect for his judgment," replied Father Foran.

Another parent told the court that her son had paid her $5 a week for his keep. A city detective stated that a shack at the address of this accused was the headquarters of the gang. Under the floor as well as beneath the verandah steps, a quantity of stolen merchandise had been found.

DOG HAD BARKED

The youth who took a dog—"which had barked at me when I went past on my bicycle"—and stabbed the animal through the heart, had stuffed the animal's body down a sewer.

A fourth youth's parent told the court that the family was leaving within a month for Vancouver.

The remaining youth was also given a warning. The law did not want to have him crossing its vision again. He, as well as all the others, was told to get a job—and every cent of damage for which they had been responsible would be paid out of their earnings.

Thieves Enter Two Premises in City

Thefts of two air guns, four gallons of paint and a spirit level, were discovered after two premises in the city were broken into, city police said Saturday.

Discovery that the W. T. Cottle Gun Shop, 10120 100A street, had been entered was made about 1:45 a.m. Saturday by Constable S. L. Edmunds. Entry had been made by knocking out a lower panel of a door with an iron pipe, after which the culprit had reached in and released the lock.

Notified that his premises had been entered, Mr. Cottle, proprietor of the shop, after an examination, stated that two air guns had been taken. Neither gun was in working order.

Four gallons of paint and a spirit level were stolen from the rear of 10321 118 street Thursday night, Robert H. Rae, 11504 97 street, contractor, told police.

Investigations are continuing.

Police "Amazed" at Insecure Buildings

City police expressed their amazement at the large number of business premises which are found insecurely locked, Chief Constable Reginald Jennings, stated Saturday.

Large numbers of establishments are being found open, or insecure, each night, it was stated, and one Friday night alone, cafes, a service station, a jewellery store and a theatre, were all found insecure. In the latter case, the keys to the theatre were found by a patrolman, hanging in the lock.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

What do you think of the request from the Edmonton Local Council of Women that pigeons flocking round public buildings be thinned out?

THE ANSWERS

WILLIAM PETERSON, caretaker: I am all for some steps being taken that will lesson the nuisance they cause. A blitz to kill off some of them would be O.K., but I would not favor their extermination.

HARRY ALLSOP, clerk: I suppose the pigeons do cause a certain amount of inconvenience around buildings, but is it of such proportions that it would call for drastic action against them? I remember the pigeons at St. Paul's, and also on the Embankment in London. There they were far more numerous than here, and yet nobody kicked about them. I would say leave the pigeons alone.

• • •

FREDERICK JONES, carpenter: I should like to know what steps the city officials will take to lessen the pigeon nuisance. Will they trap, shoot or poison them? Not having experienced the nuisance that is complained of I cannot say whether or not I would favor drastic action. I suppose we could do with a few less of them.

Fusiliers Hold Annual Smoker Victoria Armory

There was a fine representation of all ranks of the unit at the annual smoker of the 2nd Reserve Battalion Edmonton Fusiliers, held in the Victoria Armory Friday evening.

A warmth of good fellowship was generated during the proceedings, with old experiences reviewed, and songs of the First Great War and the present war intermingled.

Maj. Fred Kemp, second in command of the battalion, was chairman, with Jack Jones, well known entertainer, master of ceremonies.

Feature of the program was presentation of a handsome silver tray to Capt. A. R. Gillies, adjutant of the unit for the last 18 months, who is leaving to become adjutant and second in command of the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires.

The presentation was made on behalf of all ranks by Lt. Col. H. E. Pearson, M.C., officer commanding the battalion.

The C.O. paid a warm tribute to Capt. Gillies and expressed the regret of all ranks at his departure from the unit.

Capt. Gillies replied with a brief but appropriate speech.

Area Commandant Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., also spoke briefly.

Songs by Fusiliers Bill Lynch and Frank Williams were heartily applauded, while a display of magic by Sgt. Frank Herman of the special service division of the U.S. Army, took the house by storm.

Band of the battalion, under the direction of WO. Reg. Bullock, played several rousing marches. A buffet supper was also an enjoyable feature.

Illegal Liquor Imports Bring $2,500 in Fines

Illegal shipping of liquor into Alberta cost three Winnipeg bootleggers $2,500 in fines in supreme court Friday, when they pleaded guilty before Chief Justice W. C. Ives to charges of conspiring to import intoxicating liquor into the province.

Joseph Burkowski, alias Joseph Burke, stated by police to be the head of the bootleg ring in the Manitoba capital, was fined $1,000; James Van Alkin and Joseph Wyrozub, assistants to Burkowski, were each fined $750. All were given until Tuesday next to pay their fines.

OTHERS INVOLVED

Also charged with the conspiracy to import are Albert J. Moss and Fred A. Sawchuk, Edmonton. They pleaded guilty to this charge at the November assizes and were remanded until the January court for sentence. John Sawchuk, who pleaded guilty to the charge at the November sittings of the court, was given suspended sentence for two years.

The charges arose out of the importation, by motor car and express, of quantities of grain alcohol from Winnipeg. This was mixed with distilled water and coloring matter, and bottled in bottles carrying labels of popular rye whiskies. The bottles were also wrapped in bags similar to those used by the Manitoba Liquor Commission.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The average child is a selfish child. Not only does he want his own things bue he wants what the other child has. One has to begin, early in the child's life, to sell him on the advantages of sharing with others.

Until he reaches the point at which he can see that he profits by sharing, we may have to give all small children in the family the same type of toys, so that this constant striving for the other child's possessions may not become the whole pattern of their play together.

Mrs. S. wonders how far one should carry this practice with small children. "Being the mother of 15-months-old twins this poses a problem for me. Shall I give them everything the same? For instance if I give a ball to one and a dog to the other, the moment the other child sees the dog she wants it for herself. Shall I then take the dog from one and give it to the other?

"Should both be picked up at the same time? When, if I do this, shall I begin to treat them as individuals? I think an article on this would be helpful."

Because these are twins and have typical desires at the same time, it would seem less fruitful of trouble to give each one the same toy at the same time. This may cut down the varieties of toys but will make for harmony.

Later when you begin to buy large toys and do not wish to duplicate these, such as tricycles, wagons, pianos, etc., you may begin their education in taking turns. One may play with the tricycle 15 minutes and then give it up to the other. They will learn eventually that being faced by the time limit to take a toy when they really do not want it, can be adjusted by allowing each child to decide to play with the toy as long as she wants it. How long it will be before this amiable point is reached, no one can say.

You should give them equal attention but not necessarily at the same moment. You could make it a practice to pick up one first, then the other, so one would not always feel she was the "last".

It is vitally important to treat them like individuals when they begin to display personality differences. It is better for individuals to be individuals and not mirror images of another personality, better for their relationship with others. Sometimes twins have to work harder than others to achieve a distinctive personality. But it is worth it.

Our leaflet, "Children's Quarrels," may be had by sending your request for it to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper, and including a 4-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Points for Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

Mother: Grandmother, have you noticed what beautiful hands Mary has—just like her Aunt Anna's? And like Anna, too, she paints and cooks and does so many things well with her hands."

Mother: "Isn't is a shame Jim had to get the curly hair and the musical talent in this family? Mary's hair is a straight as a string and she can't even carry a tune."

We help make children feel they are of worth, which every child needs, when we stress their assets instead of their liabilities.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Every Woman Does Not Make Good Homemaker

It Is Better for Such a Wife to Hire House Work Done And to Turn Her Talents, Ambitions and Energies to Job She Enjoys

DEAR MISS DIX: What would you do if you had the kindest husband in the world and the most adorable baby, both of whom you loved dearly, but you just couldn't make a go of your married life? I am a college graduate and was successful with my work. I am well and healthy. I love my home and want to be successful with that, but I am a rank failure as a housekeeper. I never get through with my work. I haven't any real interest in housework and the kind of interest I try to create doesn't help me, and I feel that my spirit is dead within me.

I am just a machine that isn't functioning right, and I am tired and discouraged. I have tried to work out a system. I have tried to copy other women's budgets and plans. Nothing turns out right. I am a failure. My husband's people think so. Mine think so, too, yet I love my husband and want to work up with him. What can I do?

DESPERATE.

ANSWER: Inasmuch as you have made an honest and conscientious effort to be a good housekeeper and have failed at it, why not just accept the fact that Nature did not endow you with domestic talents, and devote your energies to some other calling?

Not every woman is a born cook, any more than every man is a born carpenter or bookkeeper or mechanic. There are plenty of men who never acquire the art of driving a nail without smashing their fingers; who never find out what ails the automobile when it goes blooey, and who couldn't add up a column of figures at sight to save their lives, but this does not keep them from being eminent physicians, or lawyers, or making good fortunes in the grocery trade.

The men who fall in the world are invariably those who stumbled into doing things for which they have no natural aptitude — the preachers who should have been bricklayers, the bricklayers who should have been preachers, the merchants who should have been doctors, the doctors who should have been merchants, or actors, or farmers.

Whenever you find a man who is doing a job badly, who is discontented and forever talking about changing to something else; whenever you find a man who is working with his eye on the clock, with no interest in what he is doing except what he earns by it, you will find that he is miscast. He has the other fellow's job. He is a round peg in a square hole and he doesn't fit.

And on the other hand, when you find a man who has found his appointed place and who is doing the work God fashioned to his hand, you will find a man who is on his tiptoes, who is alert and happy and interested, and who is always thinking of new and better ways to do his work.

Strange that we never think that women have just this same sort of reaction towards their jobs as men have towards theirs when the job happens to be housework. We think of women as being universally domestic, just naturally loving to cook and sew and clean and knowing by instinct how to do it.

But this isn't true. There are women who are born cooks and other women who are born office women. There are women who measure by the eye and season by the taste, whose bread is always light and whose angel food would win a blue ribbon anywhere. There are other women who never can cook anything that isn't a menace to life, but who know instinctively the kind of hats and gowns that other women will be crazy to buy next spring, and who are cracker-jack office women who can put their fingers on anything in a filing cabinet in the dark.

So poor, tired discouraged housewife, vainly trying to do the work you will never learn to do well, why not go back to your old job? Have a heart-to-heart talk with your husband and ask him if he thinks he could succeed in some calling for which he has no talent, and if he would be happy trying to do something which did not appeal to him, in which he had no real heart interest and in which he always failed.

Ask him, at least, to let you try the experiment of hiring a woman to put in your place. Let her do the cooking and washing and scrubbing while you earn the money with which to pay her outside of the home, doing the work you can do well. It will make for the good of the family. Your husband will have something fit to eat, a well-run home and a wife who will renew her youth and charm because she will be happy.

STILL IN LOVE

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 20 and have been going with a young man for the last two years. The other night we went riding together and on the way we had a quarrel, and the young man got so angry that he made me get out and walk home, all of five miles.

Now he wants another date and says he will try to act better. I love him dearly and believe he loves me. We have been planning our marriage for quite a while and I would be very disappointed if our dreams failed to come through. It is the first time we have ever quarreled, and so far as I am concerned it will be the last.

VIRGINIA R.

ANSWER: If you are going to marry a man you will have to yes-yes about everything to keep him from treating you brutally, you are certainly letting yourself in for domestic slavery of the worst sort. Many questions are bound to come up between a husband and wife on which they do not agree, and the wife is in a sad predicament if she does not dare express an opinion.

This young man has shown you that he is not a gentleman, that he has no idea of chivarly or tenderness or consideration toward a woman, and no wife is happy married to a man who lacks these qualities. Besides, a man who would put a girl out of car and make her walk five miles back home because he gets angry with her will beat his wife when she provokes him.

Better a broken dream now, my dear, than a broken heart and a black eye later on.

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Last of a series of six articles selecting the All-American bridge team for 1943.

Honorable mention on my All-American contract bridge team for 1943 goes to Mrs. E. J. Seligman of New York. For the past three years Mrs. Seligman, paired with Mrs. Mae Rosen of New York, has won the national women's pair championship. In 1943, paired with Mrs. Ruth Chase Goldberg of Philadelphia, Mrs. Sligman won the national open pair championship.

The opening diamond lead was won by South with the jack, and the diamond king was returned. Mrs. Seligman, sitting North, had to make a discard. Would you discard the queen of spades, the eight of spades, or make some other play?

The East hand held Spades K 10 5 4; Hearts A Q 10 7; Diamonds 9 6 5 2; Clubs 9. The South hand held Spades 7 3 2; Hearts 9 8 4 3; Diamonds A K Q J 8 3; Clubs none.

South had no clubs. Even if his partner threw the queen of spades, he would be afraid that the declarer would be out of spades and that the surest way to set the contract would be to continue the third diamond. It was almost impossible for him to visualize that West held eight clubs and that they were solid. If North held as good as four clubs to the ten-spot, the return of the diamond was sure to defeat the contract. Mrs. Seligman trumped her partner's good diamond and cashed her ace of spades.

TEDDY'S EXTRA GLASSES

When Theodore Roosevelt went to Cuba to fight in the Spanish American War, he took 12 extra pairs of spectacles, knowing that he would be helpless should be break his eye-glasses in battle.

Gideon Planish

By Sinclair Lewis

XXIII

IN the anteroom of Senator Bultitude's office, Dr. Planish fell to talking with a meagre and gentle man of 50-odd, with a thin flaxen mustache, baggy gray clothes, a bright blue tie, and a bright blue shirt—the uniform of a man who wanted to be different. His name was Carlyle Vesper. Something he said caused the Doctor to invite him to lunch at the Crayon Club.

It appeared that Mr. Vesper had an idea for a virtuous organization, and what was more remarkable, he seemed to have the money, in the backing of Mrs. John James Piggott, intransigent old widow of the Silver Mine and International Railroad, and of Miss Ramona Tundra, who had started as a child star in the motion pictures and was ending as a child adult who patronized faith-healers.

Carlyle Vesper was as simple as Cardinal Newman. During years as a commonplace bookkeeper he had dreamed of a Christian church in which the director would not be a pope or an archbishop or a stated secretary or any kind of paid minister, but Jesus Christ himself.

Vesper flowed on, "I guess what I want is just a gayer and more modern group of Quakers. My organization will do nothing but suggest to every man and woman and child that God really did make him a priest, and that he can pray by himself or in company with others just as he is moved. I want to call it the Every Man a Priest Fraternity.

"Oh, yes, I've thought about this for 20 years, but I'm not much of an executive. If we only had a man like you!"

"Uh—uh—how much would you plan to pay?"

"I hadn't thought about it. We have 10 thousand dollars in the treasury now. Would half of that be enough for a year's salary?"

"I'm afraid I couldn't even think of it for less than six thousand a year."

"Oh, I'm sure that as this world's goods go, six thousand would be very little for a man of your experience and your love for suffering humanity. Shall we agree on that and get to work, Brother Gideon?"

The Every Man a Priest Fraternity office, on 43rd Street in New York, was so much like the office of the Association to Promote Eskimo Culture that Dr. Planish was confused.

But when he went through the files, he found that this shop was notably different from that of Captain Gishorn, who was as methodical about the affairs of the Devil as Carlyle Vesper was slipshod about the service of the Lord. Here were unanswered letters—one, actually, a query from the wealthy chain-store man, Albert Jalenak, about the Fraternity's aims.

He found that Vesper hadn't even "elected," as organizations playfully call it, an impressive front of general officers and honorary directors. He fretted, "All Vesper really has here is his idea, which isn't new, and the support of Mrs. Piggott and Ramona Tundra, which isn't ironclad. I've got to go see those old girls and find out where we are."

He felt at home in that ancient hallway, with a teak throne and a marble Psyche holding a gas-lighted torch. He felt that he natively belonged to this house with its resounding memory of past grandeur and of the epoch when a man's goodness could be exactly measured by the number of his millions. Nor was he embarrassed by the craggy old woman and the slim faded actress who awaited him on a worn satin couch behind a teatable resembling Mont-St.Michel.

He accepted tea—yes, thanks, he would have just a wee drop of rum in it; he didn't ordinarily indulge, but it was raw today.

He mentioned his professorship, his deanhood, his installation of rustic education and Eskimos.

All this presented modestly, with many little razor-blades of comment which showed that he understood the ladies' own position. They listened with increasing trustfulness until his actor's instinct, so important to salesmen of philanthropy, told him that the time had come to play Old Family Doctor.

He gravely pushed the tea table away, took both of Mrs. Piggott's aged hands, and started building his great second act speech:

"Dear Mrs. Piggott, and you, dear girl" (Miss Tundra was, he calculated, at least 35), "both of you, I have shockingly bad news. Let's take it in our stride and take it with a brave smile, and get it over. The Every Man Fraternity can't go on. It's finished."

"M?"

"We have at the moment only $9,044.37 in the treasury, and need I tell you two, who have handled weightier business affairs than most mere men ever thought of, that we couldn't even begin to spread the gospel of simplicity and unworldliness for less than $35,000 for a starter? So—but what a pity! —we'll have to let the whole thing go."

In the look that Mrs. Piggott and Miss Tundra exchanged his expert eye appraised a further 20 thousand. He hit again, quickly.

"And not only that, but a more spiritual matter, Carlyle Vesper is a seer and a saint—the most forgiving man I've ever encountered. Yet—well, I suppose he's one of these impractical souls that have to be managed. You would think that with his training in accountancy and office technique, he'd at least answer letters from poor, soul-hungry seekers—"

He had not much farther to go before Mrs. Piggott nodded to Miss Tundra, who interrupted him, "Yes, we can see that, Doctor. It's like a heaven-sent cinema artist trying to produce and distribute. I think I may speak for Lady Piggott, as I always call her, when I say that we're already agreed you ought to be the boss—Director General would be a lovely title—and you can let Mr. Vesper Go on dreaming his dear, lovely, lonely lotus dreams apart from all the hurly-burly, and isn't it fortunate that he's a widower without children—I'm sure he'll be perfectly happy on $35 a week, instead of the $50 that we have been temporarily allowing him."

Dr. Planish breathed hard; then he besought the two religion founders, "But I'm no worthy to go to that noble spirit and tell him—"

"I'm worthy! I'm good at that!" announced Mrs. Piggott. "You let me tell him. I'll get him right down here. Poor Doctor, I know how hard it is on you!" He was suspicious, but he decided that she meant it. "Don't go back to the office this afternoon, and when you go in tomorrow, you'll find everything all okay and sublimated, or do I mean substantiated?"

By GAYNOR MADDOX

A novel twist for a supper-shower is a hearts party. Most appropriate and easy on your ration budget is fruit stuffed calves hearts, and what could be more amusing than serving spoon bread with the gravy? Each heart weights not over 1 pound and serves at least three persons. Prepared carefully and garnished attractively, fruit stuffed calves hearts is truly a gourmet dish. Remember, though, to ask the butcher for a little good suet when you buy the hearts.

FRUIT STUFFED CALVES HEARTS

Three calves hearts, seasoned flour, ½ cup prunes, soaked, ½ cup dried apricots, soaked, ½ cup raisins, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ cup dried bread crumbs, 2 cups water.

Mother, This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Splendid

Saves Real Money. No Cooking. Real Results.

To get really surprising relief from coughs due to colds, you can easily prepare a medicine, right in your own kitchen. It's very easy—anyone can do it—needs no cooking, and tastes so good that children take it willingly. But you'll say it's hard to beat, for quick results.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, and pour it into a 16 oz. bottle. Then add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really splendid cough syrup—about 4 times as much for your money. It never spoils, and lasts a family a long time.

And for real, quick relief, it is actually splendid. It works in three ways—loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

7 In Memoriam

In loving memory of Catherine Ferguson, of 11162 97 St., who passed away January 29th, 1943.

"We do not forget her, we love her too dearly,
For her memory to fade from our lives like a dream;
Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely,
For grief often dwells where it seldom is seen.
—Ever remembered by her loving Husband and Family.

IN loving memory of my beloved husband, Captain H. V. Coles, who died January 30, 1943.

There is a link life cannot sever,
Love and remembrance last forever.
—Sadly missed by his wife, Marguerite Coles.

Dutch Army Men Starved to Death

LONDON, Jan. 29.—(CP)—Two hundred non-commissioned officers of the Netherlands army died of starvation after 2½ months in a German prison camp at Altengrabow, according to underground advices reaching here. They were reported among 600 men imprisoned after refusing to volunteer for labor service in Germany last May Nazi officials were accused of systematically withholding vitamins and other essential adjuncts to an adequate diet.

No Advantages Seen From Land Settlement Plan

CALGARY, Jan. 29.—(CP)—Increased population for Western Canada after the war would be advantageous to the western farmer only if it comes by way of increased industrialization, Dr. R. D. Sinclair, dean of the faculty of agriculture at the University of Alberta, told the Short Course luncheon yesterday.

If, on the other hand, the major increase in our population should result from land settlement programs, the market situation would be aggravated rather than relieved, he said.

Dr. Sinclair spoke on "Western Canada and the United Nations' Food Program."

REVIEWS NEEDS

He reviewed needs of the world for markets; the value of the home market and the export market to western farmers; the period required for agricultural rehabilitation; the possibility of shipping breeding stock to European countries after the war ends; the effect of the short term phase and the long term phase on the general food situation; the expansion of industry and trade with resultant increased purchasing power; the question of commodity agreements and food banks; and the reorientation of production.

CALGARY, Jan. 29.—(CP)—The necessity for keeping pork production costs down to the minimum if Canada was to meet post-war competition for the export bacon market was urged by Dean R. D. Sinclair of the agriculture faculty, University of Alberta, in an address to 350 farmers at the agricultural short course here yesterday.

Dr. Sinclair's addres. gave the farmers the benefit of years of research work by the university in methods of feeding pigs to produce the most pork per dollar of feed.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

By CPL. T. C. SIZEMORE
The American Chaplaincy with the U.S. Army Air Force's Edmonton Station

Build for A Better World

ARMY life is sharpening the life-work decisions of some young men and women. Today, as never before, we have great need to turn to God regularly and find fellowship and communion through Christ. The perpetual clash of right against wrong, the war against sin, is raging. Life purposes, spiritual aspirations, wholesome ambitions, ideas, and ideals constantly are being demolished. They lie in ruins in puzzled minds and aching hearts.

But in the midst of all this chaos God lives, ready to help, to guide, to empower. God waits for us to turn aside each day and have fellowship with Him, let Him know that He has a hold on our lives, and that He shapes our destiny.

No matter how superior our Army may be, let us not deceive ourselves into believing that we can fight battles without the sacrifice of life and limb. The decisive battles of the war must still be fought. With them will be the ever growing list of those who have fallen on the field of battle, those who have had to make the supreme sacrifice for God and country. Innumerable casualties will result. The uncertainty of the future is no longer a platitude. It has become a stark reality. Our hearts would be troubled if we didn't have God as "our Refuge and Strength and ever-present help in trouble."

Let us not deceive ourselves with the might and power of our weapons. Our nations' trust must be in God. It is not whether God is on our side, as important as that is, but rather that we are on God's side. Our victories are empty unless we demonstrate the willingness to do God's will. Only as we follow His precepts can He smile on us.

Youth of our generation are being moulded in strained and terrifying hours. So much is happening in so short a period of time. We are geared tensely into high national emotions. The excitement aroused by the radio and press keep us in constant expectancy. The alarming changes which take place around us seem but conditioned by the times and are not reacted to as normally.

When our relatives go off to face possible death we take it as a necessary phase of today's living. When our friends who once held high ideals begin to lower and temper those ideals with questionable practices we blame it on the war and the let-down of moral standards. When those of us who used to be religious, are asked why we never go to church or show the activeness we did, we say we live in abnormal times, that we are too busily engaged in winning the war, and that we have little time to give to the Master. We may fool the people but we don't fool God.

One of the great needs today is the need for true Christians to maintain the faith to react normally in unprecedented situations. We need steady forces in our day to calm our tides of change and panic. We need mature faith in God's word that justice shall procure final victory. We need Christ in our living to be ever ready for exterior changes yet strong in inner peace and certainty.

General George C. Marshall, United States Army Chief of Staff, says that "The spiritual and moral life of our men in the Armed Forces is as essential to winning the victory as the tanks and planes and guns." Those of us in uniform are provided with the best spiritual care. We have good Christian chaplains to whom we may confide our problems and who avail themselves of our use wherever the need demands.

So let the challenge of this message send us forth highly resolved to re-dedicate our lives to Christ and to build for a better world of tomorrow. Only then can we find peace in God and joy in doing His will.

Japanese Occupied areas in the Far East had, in 1936, an annual circulation of 13,000,000 copies of God's Word. No new supplies have been possible since 1940. Existing stocks at the time of occupation have been exhausted. Meanwhile millions of the people are learning to read.
The Bible Society is NOW printing Scriptures for China, Burma, and other Far Eastern lands in India, in readiness for the day when the war shall cease.

Annual Meeting Hears Reports At Knox Church

At the annual meeting of Knox United church on Friday night the members and adherents heard that 128 new members had been received during the year, more than $6,000 had been raised for missionary purposes, all local financial obligations had been discharged and the congregation was working exceptionally hard.

The Rev. Elgin G. Turnbull, minister, presided at the meeting with the assistance of Murray Hamilton, chairman of the board of management, and A. T. Scoffield was appointed secretary.

In presenting the report of the session Arthur H. Scott, clerk of session, drew attention to the fact that of the 951 persons in full membership at Knox approximately one-seventh are on active service with the forces. These members, together with the adherents who are giving similar service to king and country constitute a roll of remembrance of 325 names. "Having suffered more than 20 major casualties in the war," said Mr. Scott, "we know something about anxiety and heartache here in Knox, and wherever sorrow or bereavement has been known we would record our love and Christian sympathy."

The auditor, D. W. Goodman, indicated that there had been raised for all purposes during the year $17,400, and disbursements included significant sums to the missionary and maintenance fund of the United Church, the liquidation of the United Church deficit, the Women's Missionary Society, the Milk-for-Britain fund, the Red Cross Prisoner-of-War fund, and other humanitarian causes. Dr. J. W. Campbell, chairman of the finance committee, reported that there had been an increase in the number of contributors to the church and an increasing willingness to use the duplex envelope. The board of management had been able to clear off all indebtedness and undertake certain imortant repairs to the church building.

OTHER REPORTS

Reports were presented from R. B. Law for the choir, Mrs. A. I. Millar for the Woman's Association, Mrs. D. W. Goodman for the Red Cross and War Service committees, George S. Macdonald for the missionary and maintenance committee, Miss Jessie M. Moses for the Evening Auxiliary, Mrs. W. A. Millar for the Woman's Missionary Society, Miss Marion Olstad for the Young People's Union, Mrs. R. Stinson for the nursery and junior congregations, K. W. Reikie for the Sunday school, Mrs. J. E. Parsons for the Canadian Girls in Training, Miss Donna McIntyre for the Explorers, Mrs. Mildred R. Weston for the Wolf Cubs, David A. Moir for the Boy Scouts, Mrs. E. E. H. Taylor for the Scout Mothers' Auxiliary, William Potts for the special committee on the liquidation of the United Church deficit, Mrs. H. D. Dunlop for the Flower Guild, and Mrs. K. W. Reikie for the Young Women's Mission Circle.

ELECT OFFICERS

The following were elected to serve on the board of management: P. Manning, R. Bibby, J. W. Martins, G. S. McArthur, H. D. Dunlop, W. A. Millar, N. R. Campbell, C. T. O'Leary, and Gordon Provost. Together with members previously elected, they will constitute a 21-man board. The congregation decided to increase the strength of the session by six new elders, and arrangements were made to provide for such an election.

Expressions of appreciation were heard concerning the treasurer, choirmaster, choir, organist, sexton, workers among the youth, and all who during the year gave of their personality or substance to the work of the church. J. M. Douglas moved a resolution of appreciation and confidence in the minister, and in his reply Mr. Turnbull spoke of the atmosphere of friendliness that prevails in the Congregation. It is an atmosphere that not only makes work pleasant but that draws out the very best in all of us," he said.

At the conclusion of the meeting the Women's Association social committee, Mrs. J. M. Taylor and Mrs. T. A. Lendrum, served light refreshments in the schoolroom.

Grains Advance On Chicago Mart

CHICAGO, Jan. 29—(AP)—After an easier start, grains advanced today under the leadership of rye. Commission houses and local traders were both on the buying side of rye and the grain advanced about a cent. Wheat reversed its early trend and moved upward for small gains. Oats maintained a strong undertone throughout the session.

There was little pressure to sell grains as most traders felt commercial buying would develop next week. Traders are expecting an expansion in flour business after Feb. 1, when new subsidies go into effect, and believe mills will remove hedges in the wheat pit. This prospect prevents any sustained selling at the moment.

At the close wheat was ⅛-⅜ higher, oats were unchanged to ⅜ higher, rye was up ⅝-1 cent and barley was ⅛-¼ lower.

Wheat—May 1.71⅞; July 1.69¼-⅛; Sept. 1.68⅝-½; Dec 1.68⅝.

Oats—May 80; July 77¾; Sept. 76⅛.

Rye—May 1.31½-1.32; July 1.30½-⅜; Sept.⅝ 1.28¾; Dec. 1.28⅝.

Monarch Life Annual Meeting Hears Reports

The annual meeting of The Monarch Life Assurance Company was held in Winnipeg on Jan. 25, with the president, E. J. Tarr, presiding.

Attention was drawn particularly to the establishment of the Staff Pension and Insurance Fund, which is now on a contributory basis, but in order that it might be establishde with due recognition being given to past service of full-time salaried employees, a company grant of $200,000 was made and appears in the statement as a liability.

The increase in assets during the year was in excess of a million and a half, and the increase of business in force exceeded six million and now totals $79,752,618. Holdings of Dominion Government bonds increased substantially more than did total assets.

After making full provision for all accrued profits to policy-holders and maintaining a reserve for unreported policy claims and unallocated investment reserve, the Contingency Reserve was increased from $400,000 to $500,000. The then remaining free surplus amounted to $745,000.

MY DAY

NEW YORK.—Last spring I called to my readers' attention a list of books which the National Conference of Christians and Jews published. Mr. Archibald MacLeish has written a foreward for this list, and I think many of the titles will be of interest to thoughtful people all over the country. The mid-west area office is at 203 North Wabash ave., Chicago, 1, Ill., and I know that office will gladly distribute this list to anyone who writes in.

While I was having my hair done the other morning, I read through a little volume called "The Return" by Margaret Rhodes Peattie. On the jacket it says this book is "A vision, a prophecy, a hope. It is the story of a great day, the day that every American is waiting for." There is joy and pathos in the book, but the delicate feeling for all people will be a help in understanding the changes that on that day, Victory Day, many of us will meet and continue meeting long after it has come and gone.

The brief reference in one of the sketches to the old time civilian occupations which have been curtailed or have entirely disappeared during the war, is a renewed warning to all of us that every community must plan now for that day, and must not leave to chance the future of its returning soldiers. We must move from war production to peace production smoothly, and with as little time as possible for idleness in between.

I have also just seen Mr. Nathan Straus's book, "The Seven Myths of Housing." It is a clear and courageous exposition of the problems and solutions confronting us in housing as he sees them. I hope it will be widely read throughout the country.

There will be differences of opinion not only among real estate interests and private building interests, but among public housing people. Basically we know: One—that slums exist in rural and urban areas throughout the nation; Two—that we have an expanding population, many of whom must have decent but inexpensive housing; Three—that this can only be done for our lowest income groups by cutting all the normal costs which are included necessarily in private operations

This war, like the last, has increased bad housing in spite of emergency defence building. There will be a demand for housing at the end of the war, and the field will be open for both public and private building. Public building can spur private industry to do a better job, and I do not think it needs to hamper in any way the development of legitimate real estate operations and legitimate private construction. Housing is of vital interest because bad housing is responsible for so many of our other social problems.

McCoy Health Service

Adhesions which form around the large intestine may be a potent cause of ill health. The symptoms produced depends upon the severity of the case—when the adhesions are slight they may produce almost no symptoms; but when they are severe they are likely to bring about a general derangement of health attended by a long train of symptoms.

The one symptom most likely to arise from intestinal adhesions is a stubborn type of constipation, and the patient generally has a long history of extreme difficulty in getting rid of the waste material from the colon. For relief, he has possibly used all sorts and varieties of laxatives, cathcartics and other regulators".

Next to constipation in order of frequency, are those symptoms which we group together under the one heading of indigestion. Digestive difficulty is very common, and is accompanied by flatulence or gas, a feeling of heaviness or fullness, the sensation of food not being properly digested, poor appetite, etc. When the patient tries to put his discomfort into words, he will probably say, "My stomach bothers me."

Because of the continued digestive unhappiness, the patient may have a long list of foods he believes disagree with him. Once the colon is returned to normal and the adhesions are banished, he will find indigestion giving away to perfect digestion and will make the pleasant discovery that he can eat almost any wholesome food in absolute comfort with no distress afterward.

Adhesions are commonly productive of underweight conditions because of the digestion being so poor the patient does not get the real good from his food. In addition to being thin, the patient will exhibit a general flabbiness of the muscles all over the body, and in this process, the abdominal muscles also share, becoming very soft and relaxed when they should be firm and strong. The patient may also complain of weakness, the little strength, lack of endurance, and almost continual tiredness. The skin may be very dull, muddy and unattractive; and such symptoms as low blood pressure and anemia are also common.

When the patient is bothered with any form of rheumatism, whether it is muscular rheumatism, arthritis, lumbago, wry-neck or what is called rheumatic neuritis, I find it especially important to look for adhesions and to treat them when they are found. Once adhesions form to any great extent the intestinal tract seems to absorb poisons much more readily than is the case when the colon is healthy. These particular poisons apparently act as one of the direct causes of rheumatic disorders.

In a case of severe intestinal adhesions characterized by constipation, digestive upsets, underweight and a tired feeling, the patient will probably feel below par much of the time and will not know what it is to be really well until such adhesions are corrected

Coldwell Against 'Socialized' Press

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—(CP)—The Ottawa Citizen in a copyright story yesterday quoted M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, as saying in an interview that Canadian newspapers will not be socialized by a C.C.F. government because the party feels there should be no interference with free discussion.

Mr. Coldwell said his party believes the Canadian currency, credit and banking system should not be tied to the gold standard but should be related to the economy of the nation so that goods and services produced can be distributed.

The C.C.F. would consider businesses which had become "monopolistic," such as railways, air lines, telephones, telegraphs, electric power, oil, meat packing and organizations which would be incorporated in a national marketing and trading plan, as those which might be considered the most urgent to be socialized after the C.C.F. took office.
